TORONTO EXPERT TO STUDY CITY FINANCES

Status of Leeming And Brown Before House Committee

Legislators Asked to Nullify Disqualification Move Against Mayor and Finance Committee Chairman; John Day Announces He Will Press His Action

Private Agreements On Action Related

Details of "private or gentlemen's agreements" in the John Day injunction against Mayor Leeming and Alderman P. R. Brown were given before the private bills committee of the Legislature this morning when a clause in the city's bill which would remove the disqualification threat hanging over the heads of the two council members was considered.

John Day charged before the committee that an agreement by which he had agreed to hold off his action until the Legislature had a chance to rule had been broken when an appeal against the injunction was discussed in the City Council and a ratepayers' meeting was called requesting him to withdraw his action.

Alderman Brown hotly denied any part in such movements.

"I haven't sat on the council since the injunction was granted," he said. "And I don't belong to the ratepayers' association. So I certainly took no part in anything that was done."

Mr. Day informed Byron Johnson, Liberal, Victoria, that he intended to press his action against Mayor Leeming and Alderman Brown if the Legislature did not interfere.

HIGGINS'S AGREEMENT

Alderman Brown told about an agreement between himself, his lawyer, H. G. Lawson, and Frank Higgins, K.C., Mr. Day's solicitor, on September 17. This was a gentleman's agreement, he said, in which it was agreed to let the writ stand as it was so that no one else could bring an action. If the Legislature did not pass the refunding scheme the whole matter would then be dropped. It was arranged that if the refunding scheme went to the House the clause to clear the mayor nad Alderman Brown would also be proposed.

Mr. Day did not know of this agreement, he said. "Or else I've been deceived," he added.

The private bills committe did not reach any decision on the indemnification clause, but will hear more about it tomorrow.

At the opening of discussion Herbert Anscomb, Independent, Victoria, questioned why the committee need discuss it when the "masses of the people" could decide the whole thing at the polls next month.

QUESTION OF FINE

"One point is," said H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, "that if the thing was pressed through and a judgment secured there would be a fine up to $2,500."

"This clause would wipe out the writ entirely, I take it," said Arnold Hanna, Liberal, Comox, committee chairman.

"Yes," said Mr. Pringle.

Mr. Day then undertook to explain the whole matter, relating how he

Market Probe Opens Monday

Twenty Witnesses to Be Called Before House Committee

Twenty witnesses will be called before the agricultural committee of the B.C. Legislature to testify in the inquiry into the operations of the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board, to open on Monday.

Plans for the investigation were made at a preliminary meeting of the committee this morning.

Witnesses to be called are: William Montgomery, Ladner; R. A. Coleman; Basil Gardom, Dewdney; Mrs. E. Tibbetts, Marpole-Richmond Review; Howard Mitchell, Financial Times; Vancouver; Chung Chuck, Chinese; L. F. Solly, Westholme; Leyland Hornby, East Delta; Inspectors J. Maxwell and E. W. Bourque of the marketing board; Ben Dickey and A. P. Slade, Vancouver wholesalers; Ernie Yit, Vancouver Growers' Exchange; W. J. McGuigan, Vancouver market commissioner; Edmund Ronayne, Pemberton; Les Gilmore, chairman, Col. A. W. McLellan and A. H. Peterson of the vegetable board and George Snow, agent.

George Murray, Liberal, Lillooet, warned that it would cost $5,000 or $6,000 to get the inquiry under way if the committee went ahead with plans for a stenographer to take all the evidence.

It was decided to request that Norman Whittaker, Liberal, Saanich, a lawyer, be added to the committee to aid in questioning witnesses.

R. W. Swailes, Social Constructive, Delta, said he knew several persons who had charges to make and got the committee's agreement that voluntary witnesses would be heard.

West Coast Road Costs Are Given

It would cost $525,000 to complete the West Coast Road, without hard-surface, from the end of present construction to Port Renfrew, Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, informed the B.C. Legislature in answer to questions of R. H. Pooley, K.C., Unionist, Esquimalt.

This would cover the cost of twenty-one miles of construction. Grading and graveling has been done for five miles west of Jordan River.

In the last eight months $27,561.54 have been spent on the work by the provincial government alone and further sums by the Dominion Government of which details were not given

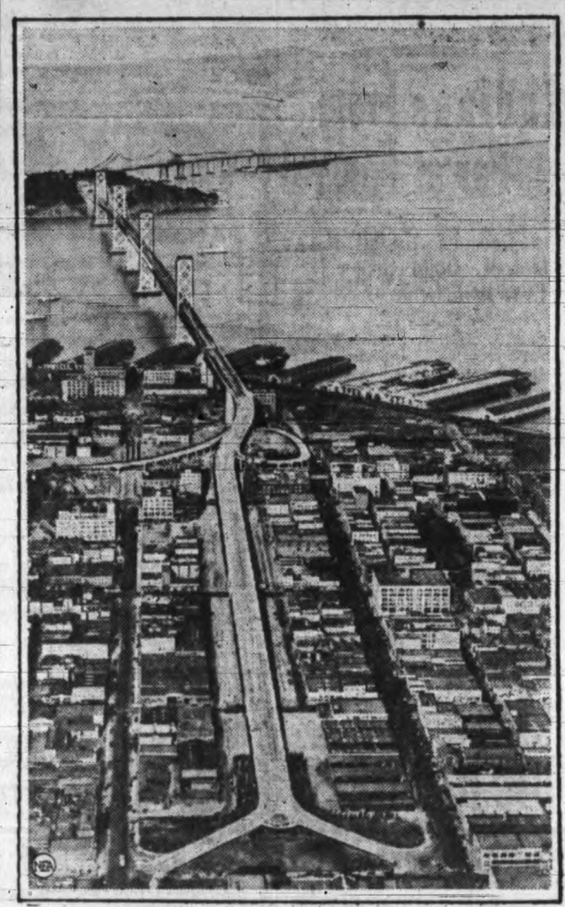
San Francisco Bridge Opened



The above picture, taken from the air over the approaches to the San Francisco end of the Oakland bridge, shows how the great structure crosses Yerba Buena Island, through which there is a tunnel. The longest stretch of the bridge is from the island to Oakland. The second enormous bridge being built in San Francisco at present is over the Golden Gate.

Associated Press

San Francisco, Nov. 12.—Hailed by dedicatory speakers as the crowning achievement of man's ingenuity, the $77,000,000 Transbay Bridge was officially opened shortly after 10.40 a.m. today by Governor Frank Merriam.

Using an acetylene torch, the state's chief executive severed a golden chain across the bridge at the Oakland toll house and, with his party, made the first official trip across the structure, which required more than three years to build.

The dedicatory ceremony was concluded at the San Francisco end of the bridge as the Governor cut a barrier to the accompaniment of a nineteen-gun salute.

PIGEONS RELEASED

Approximately 1,500 carrier pigeons were released as the east barrier was severed, and at the west end of the structure 250 fighting ships from navy airplane carriers engaged in stunt flying and manoeuvres.

Mr. Hoover told an audience of 10,000 persons on the east bridge approach that the structure represented a dream of two generations and was the product of 100 years of accumu-

Mayor Wires Holders of Bonds Agree Adjustment Necessary; Wait to Act

After Survey at City Hall Eastern Representative Will Talk With Provincial Government; Mayor Asked Government For Legislation

City Delegation Is Returning Tuesday

A representative of eastern Canada interests holding Victoria bonds is on his way from Toronto to make a personal survey of the city's financial conditions and on his report and on discussions he hopes to have with officials of the provincial government will be based any action in Toronto on the Henley refunding plan. Word to this effect was contained in a telegram received by Acting Mayor James Adam today from Mayor David Leeming.

The message lent new hope of securing authorization of the refunding scheme from the provincial government, members of which have been cool to the city's request for a blanket permit granting the city power to effect the refunding issue by order-in-council.

MAYOR DUE TUESDAY

In his telegram Mayor Leeming said he would be in Victoria on Tuesday afternoon. He disclosed eastern financial interests representing city bondholders were not prepared to take any refunding action until the whole situation had been canvassed locally by their personal representative.

The message from the mayor was received at the City Hall in an atmosphere tense over the reception accorded clauses in the city's private bill regarding the refunding issue and other matters.

SEVERAL INTERVIEWS

The telegram is as follows:

"Toronto committee have had several interviews with us and investigated our statements. They recognize Victoria's situation requires adjustment but will not act until their investigator makes personal survey in Victoria. While there will confer with provincial government as Toronto committee requires complete background of whole situation. Please ask government pass permissive legislation authorizing Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to implement same. Investigators proceeding Victoria immediately. Will be home Tuesday afternoon."

It was believed Mayor Leeming would seek an audience with the government to present the actual facts on his mission to Great Britain and Eastern Canada. He would explain the reaction of English and Eastern Canadian holders of Victoria bonds to the interest reduction proposals.

TUESDAY MEETING

At a meeting Tuesday afternoon with Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipalities and Byron Johnson, M.P.P., the council's representatives got the impression the government would not accept their proposals unless a definite refunding plan were presented.

The city was asking the Legislature to give the government the authority to pass on any refunding scheme which might be drafted.

The Minister of Finance made it clear that this was not a definite enough plan for the government to accept.

Lacking any details from the mayor, the delegation was faced with the fact that the House would decline to grant the necessary powers.

How today's development would affect the situation was uncertain, as a meeting of the council will be necessary to decide the city's course.

Hitler's Double

He looks like Adolf Hitler incognito. That is what officials at the zoo in Vienna thought, too, when this man wandered through the park for several hours. Cowlick, moustache, beetling brows and jutting jaw resembled the German Chancellor so much none were sure whether to salute him. His identity was not learned, but it is known he was not Hitler.

ALBERTA M.P.P. FACES RECALL

First Use of New Act Is Made Against J. Hansen in Taber

Canadian Press

Lethbridge, Alta., Nov. 12.—First application of the Alberta Recall Act in an effort to unseat a member of the Legislature will be attempted in the Taber constituency of southern Alberta.

At a constituency convention of the Social Credit Party in Taber yesterday endorsement was given a motion to recall James Hansen, former mayor of Taber and Social Credit member in the Legislature. It would be started immediately, R. Turner, president of the Taber constituency Social Credit Association, announced.

Only provincial act of its kind in Canada, the Alberta Legislative Assembly Recall Act came in force April 3, 1936, after its adoption by the Legislature. It provides that 66⅔ per cent of the voters in the constituency must sign a petition before a member may be recalled.

Business Gains In Canada Are Wide Says Bank Leader

All Provinces Share in Solid Advance Which Has Improved Economic Position of Three-quarters of the Population, Declares S. H. Logan

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Lifted from the depression by their own initiative and improved conditions abroad, the majority of Canadians "are no longer in an economic wilderness," S. H. Logan of Toronto, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, told the organization today.

To the association's annual meeting, Mr. Logan in his presidential address brought a picture of general business so substantially improved, despite setbacks in certain areas, that "the economic position of three-quarters of our population has improved."

IN ALL PROVINCES

"Recovery has been much more widespread than at any time since the low point of the depression in 1933 and had there not been this year a continuation in parts of our western provinces of what some scientists regard as the worst series of droughts in the last 200 years, the economic and social gains would have been still more impressive," he said.

Mr. Logan attributed the year's record mainly to private enterprise taking advantage of improved markets abroad, consequent upon in-

ISLAND ROAD LOOP URGED

Menzies Bay-Sayward Link and Cross-island Road Hanna's Proposal

Construction of a highway loop on the northern end of the present Vancouver Island road system by extending the Island Highway to Sayward and thence across the island to the Tofino Road, was urged by L. Arnold Hanna, Liberal, Comox, in the Legislature this morning.

Speaking in the budget debate, Mr. Hanna said these road extensions were really necessary and should be done by the government as soon as humanly possible.

Mr. Hanna also put in a word for the proposed seaside park at Oyster River, the suggestion being the government acquire the property and dedicate it as a park jointly with the federal authorities.

Farmers of the province and especially of the island deserved taxation relief by way of reduced assessments, Mr. Hanna claimed.

He urged the E. & N. land belt be taxed, and put in a word for reforestation to insure a continuation of the forest crop on the island.

The Comox member also expressed himself as favoring a provincial trade department to promote overseas markets for B.C. goods.

GAS MASKS FOR BRITISH PEOPLE

Associated Press

London, Nov. 12. — Great Britain "very shortly" will be producing free gas masks for civilians at a rate of 2,000,000 monthly, Geoffrey Lloyd, Under Secretary of the Home Office, told the House of Commons today.

Under questions by members of Parliament, Mr. Lloyd declared "Substantial stocks of component parts of civilian respirators have already been produced, and they are expected to be on large-scale assembly by next March."

The masks, he said, would be issued free "in event of an emergency."

New Negotiations In U.S. Port Strike

Federal Labor Assistant Secretary Forecasts Resumption of Peace Talks at Pacific Harbors

Associated Press

San Francisco, Nov. 12.—Immediate opening of peace negotiations in the maritime strike that has throttled United States Pacific Coast marine commerce for two weeks was forecast today by Assistant Labor Secretary Edward F. McGrady.

The official spent most of yesterday conferring with representatives of the 37,000 striking union workers, whose walkout at midnight, Oct. 29, has left an estimated 178 ships strike-bound in west coast ports and Hawaii and led to sympathy action in Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico harbors.

Rear-Admiral Harry G. Hamlet, representative of the United States Maritime Commission, meanwhile announced its hearings into the situation would be postponed for the fifth time—this time indefinitely, after a session this afternoon.

PERISHABLE CARGOES

Efforts to effect release by unions of perishable cargoes aboard strike-bound vessels snagged yesterday evening. The union's joint policy committee, criticizing a Los Angeles federal judge for ordering one such cargo removed, resolved that no consideration be given removal of perishable cargo until "shippers withdraw the court order."

BANANA SHIPMENT

In Los Angeles, Federal Marshal Robert Clark previously had reported inability "without coercion" to remove a $10,000 banana consignment from the liner California as directed by Federal Judge McCormick, who granted the order on petition of the consignees.

Spokesmen for both sides have been pessimistic concerning resumption of negotiations.

Strikers claimed nearly 250 ships were tied up by sympathy walkouts in Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports. In New York, where they said seventy-nine vessels were held, em-

MADRID TROOPS HAVE SUCCESS IN SURPRISE SORTIE

By ALEXANDER M. UHL
Associated Press Correspondent

Madrid, Nov. 12.—The Madrid war command asserted late today that government forces, in a sudden flank movement from the west, had recaptured Getafe, eight miles south of Madrid.

The announcement said the capture followed a short battle, and that the government troops had found the suburb occupied by only a few Fascist troops. These were captured with quantities of arms and ammunition, the government leaders added.

(Getafe, site of an important airdrome, lies behind the lines of the Fascist armies at present besieging Madrid.)

ARTILLERY DUEL

Heavy artillery fire broke out tonight after a lull of several hours. Most of the insurgent shells were directed at government battery positions at the city gates, but several fell in the centre of the capital, tearing large holes in roofs and injuring an undetermined number of persons.

UNIVERSITY CITY FIGHT

The insurgent armies, meantime, struck at Madrid's most vulnerable approach in a driving rain. They attacked University City, on the northwest, apparently the key to their whole advance. That section, on the city's outskirts, is not defended by the Manzanares River, which has so far been a barrier to Madrid from the southwest.

Moving up through Casa del Campo, the former game preserve across the river on the west, the insurgents met a violent artillery barrage.

Cannon roared throughout the night. Machine guns and rifle fire

Two Soviet transports loaded with "shells, bombs, aerial torpedoes and chemicals" are expected in Barcelona by next Sunday, the newspaper said.

Nobel Prize To Eugene O'Neill

"I did not think an American would get the award so soon after Sinclair Lewis received it in 1930."

The dramatist and his wife, the former actress Carlotta Monterey, arrived here November 3 for a year's stay in the west, including probably three months in Seattle.

"I'm doing a play," he said, "which is dated in the period around 1860 and 1870—about the time the railroads came across the country—and I'm going to make Seattle my headquarters for at least three months while I am in the northwest. I'll be going into Oregon, and perhaps as far east as Butte, to get the material I need."

The Nobel Prizes, bequeathed in 1936, at the death of Alfred B. Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite, are each usually worth about $40,000.

FROM HARVARD

A product of Baker's famous "47 workshop" at Harvard and of the American Little Theatre movement, O'Neill first won the Pulitzer Prize with his play "Beyond the Horizon" in 1920. "Anna Christie" in 1922, and "Strange Interlude" in 1928 gained the award for him twice more.

One of the most prolific of modern playwrights, with nearly two score productions to his credit, Mr. O'Neill's art first budded in the Little Wharf Theatre in Provincetown, R.I.

"Emperor Jones," first produced by the Provincetown group, established him as a front-rank dramatist. Later it became an opera performed at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

Other plays flowed from his pen. They include "Desire Under the Elms," "All God's Chillun's Got Wings," "The Hairy Ape," "Welded," "Strange Interlude," "Mourning Becomes Electra," and "Ah, Wilderness."

Seldom has a playwright had a more kaleidoscopic experience. O'Neill has roamed the world — South America, Africa, Europe, the Far East. He has been penniless in Buenos Aires; he has lived in a luxurious French chateau.

He has sailed the seas in tramp steamers, a cattle vessel and an Eskimo kayak. He "prospected" for gold.

Mr. O'Neill does not attend his own plays. He has seen only three of them.

"I hardly ever go to the theatre because I can do a better production in my own mind," he has said.

Berlin Inquires As Russia Holds Germans

Nazis Have Not Yet Learned Details of Plot Charges Against Five; Three Austrians Also in Moscow Jail

Associated Press

Moscow, Nov. 12.—German diplomats today pressed their representations for information as to five German nationals reported held incommunicado since November 5 allegedly in connection with a reported anti-Soviet plot.

The embassy said it had no idea, thus far, as to the nature of the charges against the Germans. The Soviet foreign office, they added, has not been communicative. Ambassador Wener von Schulenberg, vacationing in Tiflis, was returning to Moscow to handle the case.

AUSTRIANS HELD

The Austrian embassy, meanwhile, was in a quandary as to how to aid three Austrians reported held in the alleged Fascist plot. The embassy was unable to get either the names of those reported arrested or the charges against them. Moreover, Austrian diplomats said other Austrians had become uneasy at the reports of the arrests, and were asking the embassy to help them return to their homeland.

Among those arrested presumably in connection with the plot was a Rev. Streck of the German Lutheran Church. His arrest upset plans for a wedding between the United States vice-consul, George Minor, and his fiancee, Mildred Wright. Mr. Streck, the only available Protestant minister, is reported to be in jail.

Status of Leeming And Brown Before House Committee

had decided to take action after reading in the press that the council intended to vote $1,000 apiece incidental expenses to the mayor, finance chairman and comptroller besides $15,000 to Charles Henley, fiscal agent

"NO ACCOUNTING"

"There was to be no accounting for this money," he said. "Finally, through my efforts and those of some council members the incidentals were cut to $1,000."

"When we took it to court it didn't take the judge long to find out a wrong had been perpetrated. The peculiar thing is that the aldermen say they did it innocently. The Municipal Act is clear enough on this point for a schoolboy to read," Mr Day said.

"I claim that if the Legislature ratifies this deal it will take away the freedom which I, as a taxpayer, and any other taxpayer, had to oppose things of this sort.

"When I heard they were coming to the Legislature I could see it was no use me proceeding because action by the House would throw me out of court."

"Then you intend to proceed with the writ," asked Mr. Johnson.

"Yes, I do," said Mr. Day.

"You're not concerned with the $2,500?" asked Mr. Hanna.

"No. I wouldn't get any of that. The city would get it," he replied.

Mr. Day said he could see no reason why the government, or the Legislature, should take responsibility for what the mayor and alderman had done.

"I'm speaking for a large body of ratepayers when I say that," he said.

Mr. Pringle here pointed out that the council had been strongly advised by its solicitors to appeal the injunction because there were really no grounds for it. The council had decided otherwise because of the expense involved.

NOTHING "KEPT DARK"

In response to a suggestion of Mr. Day that he and the mayor were trying to keep the Henley deal secret, Alderman Brown said there had been no attempt to keep it dark, but that a full investigation of the Henley plan was made before it became public.

"There was never any suggestion that so large a sum as $3,000 should be spent without an accounting," he declared.

Alderman Brown said the figure of $3,000 for incidental expenses had been arrived at after conversation with a "man who had done a lot of traveling."

When the judge passed on the injunction all he said was that the council had gone about the deal in the wrong way.

NOT ACTED UPON

"I want to stress," Alderman Brown added, "that the resolution on which the injunction was granted was never acted upon by the council and no money was paid out whatsoever as a result of it."

"Gentlemen," he continued, "I have had three years on the school board and this is my ninth on the council. There has never been before any suggestion leveled at me that anything was wrong and naturally I felt it very keenly."

Alderman Brown gave a long statement reciting the facts of the case in which he told of the agreement between his lawyer and Mr. Higgins, quoting Mr. Higgins as saying his client was satisfied with the second Henley deal in which Mr. Henley advanced part of the expense money, and that his client had no desire to penalize either the mayor or Alderman Brown.

OTHERS INVOLVED?

If he and the mayor were disqualified for their action what was the position of others who voted for the resolution? he asked.

Mr. Day said he never had had any intention of withdrawing his action but was simply holding off to see what the House would do.

"You mean, in one breath you would go after the two council members, and in the next you would condone their actions?" asked Mr. Anscomb.

"No, no," said Mr. Day, "I was just holding off in the meantime."

"Well, you don't think, Mr. Day, that this committee would seek to interfere with something that the courts were dealing with," said Mr. Johnson.

"Well, I intend to go on with it," said Mr. Day.

At the ratepayers meeting when he was asked to withdraw his writ there were only twenty-two present, he said, and added:

"I represent hundreds of taxpayers."

Then Mr. Day alleged that in discussing an appeal against the injunction the council had attempted to break the private agreement about holding off the action until it got to the House.

Alderman Brown denied having any agreement with Mr. Day personally and since he had not sat on the council took no part in their actions.

He concluded with the explanation that Mr. Day and his friends had not spent more than $20 or $30 to secure the writ, but it would cost him anywhere from $300 to $500 to defend it and clear himself unless the Legislature took action.

Indians From Far at Funeral

Canadian Press

Merritt, B.C., Nov. 12. — A hewn wooden cross beside a broad mound of freshly-turned earth today marked the double grave of Richardson and Eneas George, executed for the murder of a police officer.

Close to 100 Indian men, women and children who sang Christian hymns around the rude cross yesterday as the coffins of their two tribesmen were lowered into the grave, had returned to their reservation homes exhorted by their chief to "be all good friends again with the whites."

Indians from a distance of 120 miles came to the little Indian cemetery at Potato Illihie, fourteen miles from Canford, where Constables F. H. Gisbourne of the Dominion Indian Department and Percy Carr of the British Columbia Police were slain last year. They came on horseback, in carts and in automobiles to gather in the cemetery.

The question of whether the Ontario physician was served properly arose after his arrival by plane late yesterday at Newark, N.J. He told reporters he had not been served when Fred Davis, a newspaper feature service photographer, grabbed the summons before it reached the doctor's hands.

Alaska Faces Food Shortage

Juneau Residents Hunt Deer; Pigs For Thanksgiving As Ships Lie Idle

Associated Press

Juneau, Alaska, Nov. 12.—Hotcake and waffle lovers were disappointed here today when restaurants posted notices only one pat of butter would be served with hotcakes, and that waffles would not be served at all.

The restaurants said the action was taken because of the butter shortage caused by the maritime strike.

Retail butter prices have been raised from two pounds for 9 cents to two pounds for $1, but prices of other commodities, including eggs and vegetables, have not been increased yet, by agreement of the merchants.

Many merchants allowed their clerks to leave early to hunt deer over the Armistice Day holiday to help replenish the rapidly dwindling meat supplies. Few hunters were successful, however, because snow has not yet forced deer down from the upper mountainous regions.

Anchorage, Alaska, Nov. 12.—Roast suckling pig, served with an apple in its mouth, will be offered Alaskans as an alternative to Thanksgiving turkey if the maritime strike continues to keep the gobblers off the northern market.

U.S. Unemployed Under 9,000,000

Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 12.—Commerce Department experts report that unofficial check-ups indicate there are now fewer than 9,000,000 unemployed in the United States.

They say the number of those out of work has been falling off steadily this year and was "slightly less than 9,000,000 at the end of September." This compared with their estimates of 11,000,000 for January and 9,550,000 in August.

The September figure is more than 6,000,000 below the estimate for March, 1933, when a high of 15,000,000 was reached, according to the Commerce Department experts' estimates.

J. W. Anderson, Winnipeg, Dies

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 12. — James W. Anderson, eighty, an officer of the Hudson's Bay Company for thirty years before his retirement in 1912, died in a hospital here Tuesday.

Born in Drainie, Scotland, Mr. Anderson joined the company in 1882, coming immediately to Canada. From 1891 to 1896 he was stationed in Victoria, where he was one of the founders of the Oak Bay Golf Club.

During his stay in Winnipeg in the 1880's he brought and rowed the first racing shell seen on the Red River here.

LABOR MOTION DEFEATED

London, Nov. 12 (Canadian Press from Havas).—A Labor motion, criticizing Prime Minister Baldwin's refusal to meet a group of unemployed who hiked to London from South Wales was defeated in the House of Commons yesterday by a vote of 237 to 119. In moving the motion, Clement Attlee, Labor leader, stressed the orderly manner which he said had characterized the conduct of the marchers.

Glycerine Price Is Going Up

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 12.—The Toronto Mail and Empire in a newspage story says Europe's armament race has rocketed prices of glycerine in Toronto. It has so curtailed importation of glycerine that Canadian manufacturers of the products are taxed to capacity to meet demand for ordinary uses in the Dominion market, the report says.

Since early June the price of glycerine, important element in the manufacture of explosives, has jumped from 15¼ to 22¾ cents a pound.

H. P. LEE LOSES LIFE IN NEW YORK

Canadian Press

New York, Nov. 12.—Herbert Patrick Lee, author, newspaperman and former Royal Canadian Mounted Policeman, died yesterday from injuries suffered when he fell beneath a freight train.

Member of The New York Sun's staff for the last six years, he was born in England thirty-seven years ago and served in France with the British forces. During his four years with the Mounties he was two years at the Ellesmere post in the Far North.

TRADE GROWS UNDER TREATY

Canadian-U.S. Pact Brings Two-way Increase, Washington Reports

Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 12.—A State Department analysis made public yesterday said a "marked recovery" in trade with Canada had been recorded since the Canadian-United States reciprocal trade agreement became effective on January 1, 1936.

It placed the exports to Canada for the first nine months of this year at $266,000,000, an increase of $33,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1935, and imports from that country at $262,000,000, a rise of $58,000,000.

The analysis, however, covered only the first six months of this year, explaining that detailed tabulations by individual commodities were available only for that period. For the six months, exports to Canada amounted to $179,000,000, compared with $156,000,000 for the first half of 1935, and imports from Canada to $160,000,000, compared with $130,000,000.

Increases in American exports to Canada were said to have been greatest in the foollowing categories. Fresh fruits and vegetables, cotton and rayon piece goods and wearing apparel, automotive products, including tractors, a wide range of machinery and implements, agricultural and industrial and metal products generally.

Increased Canadian sales to the United States embraced notably whiskey, cattle weighing more than 700 pounds, softwood lumber, horses, cheddar cheese, certain fish, maple sugar, seed potatoes and turnips.

Dublin Greetings To Manchester

Mayor and Aldermen of English City Will Visit Irish Free State

Canadian Press

Manchester, Eng., Nov. 12.—Manchester is planning to send "a shipload of friendship" to the Irish Free State. "A real Irish welcome awaits your delegation," cordially responded Mayor Alfred Byrne of Dublin, hearing of the plan.

Alderman Joseph Toole, new Lord Mayor of Manchester, who is responsible for the proposal, estimates Great Britain and the Irish Free State are each losing about £1,500,000 ($7,500,000) annually in trade as a result of the current economic war. Manchester bears the chief brunt.

The economic dispute arose four years ago when the Free State withheld land annunity payments to Britain.

REPAIRING BREACH

"I suggest, said Lord Mayor Toole, "it is time that in the interests of trade in both countries something should be done to repair the breach. I propose therefore during my years of office to ask the members of the city council to accompany me on a municipal and commercial delegation to Dublin at no cost to the city.

"I have an assurance facilities will be provided by the Manchester Ship Company and propose sailing from the port of Manchester to Dublin Bay with a shipload of friendship. This gesture I am certain will receive a ready response on the part of people on the other side and a trust will do something to relieve unemployment."

READY WITH WELCOME

As soon as he learned of the proposal, Mayor Byrne telegraphed Lord Mayor Toole: "Heartiest congratulations on your election to Manchester's highest office. May I reiterate your expressed hope for an early settlement between the Irish and English people and also say I shall be only too happy to meet you if you visit this country."

Employment In Britain Gains

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 12.—Great Britain's industrial army stands at a new all-time record of 11,103,000. This is the number of insured persons at work, excluding agricultural workers. It is 599,000 greater than a year ago.

Between September 21 and October 26 the number of unemployed dropped to 1,611,810, which is 304,580 fewer than a year ago, and the lowest total for six years.

Despite the clearing industrial skies, the distressed areas of South Wales and the industrial north still form a blot on the landscape. Merthyr Tydvil in South Wales has 12,000 unemployed, mostly coal miners, out of a total population of 71,000.

London, Nov. 12.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons yesterday that Great Britain intended to press forward with the work of mercy in Spain. Both the government and the insurgents, however, had refused to exchange hostages.

Geneva, Nov. 12 (Associated Press).—The International Red Cross announced yesterday it had sent manifestoes to Spanish Socialists and Fascists protesting the treatment of civil war hostages. Red Cross officials asserted prisoners were held in tragic circumstances in several cities.

ADJUDICATOR IS CHOSEN

George de Warfaz of London to Judge Dominion Drama Festival

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Col. H. C. Osborne, honorary director of the Dominion Drama Festival, announced today the festival has secured as regional adjudicator for 1937 Mr. George de Warfaz of London, Eng.

Mr. de Warfaz is a playwright, actor and producer, a teacher of dramatic art and lecturer at the Institute Francais du Royaume Uni, London. He is a Belgian by birth and is complete master of the two languages, English and French.

For the past twenty years he has been on the London stage appearing in a great variety of parts. Visitors to London in recent years will remember him in the role of Dr. Duhamel in "The Wind and The Rain," which ran for 1,000 performances. Mr. de Warfaz translated this play into French and it was presented successfully in Brussels.

He has produced more than twenty English plays in the west end of London and more than 100 French plays as co-director of the French players. Among the latter was a presentation of "Le Misanthrope" in modern costume.

In addition to writing plays, he has published a book of poems in French. For several years past he has directed his own dramatic school and his own amateur dramatic society.

The regional festivals of the Dominion Drama Festival begin in Saint John, N.B., January 25, and end in Vancouver, March 27. The final festival will take place in Ottawa during the last week of April.

The adjudicator for the final festival will be a leading figure of the French theatre. The name will be announced later.

Japan's Mandate Islands Studied

League Commission Hears Natives' Lot Improves Too Slowly

Associated Press

Geneva, Nov. 12.—Members of the League of Nations mandate commission Tuesday criticized Japan's care of the natives in her mandated Pacific islands, through which she has announced she plans to establish airlines.

No questions concerning possible military aspects of the airlines were asked of Nobumi Ito, Japanese minister to Poland and representative at Geneva, at the opening of hearings on the Japanese report on the mandate.

Several members of the commission declared, however, Japan had not sufficiently improved the standard of living in the islands. The natives, they said, had not enough capital to purchase comforts from abroad. Imports in 1934 were roughly two-thirds of exports in value.

Ito told the commission Japan was doing all it could to insure the economic development of the islands.

Japan inherited the islands—numbering some 1,400 and lying south of the equator—in reward for her participation in the Great War on the side of the Allies.

Questionnaire For Employers

National Commission Seeks Exact Information on Unemployment Situation

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 12. — The National Employment Commission is sending a questionnaire to employers of labor throughout the country in an effort to arrive at the exact unemployment situation in Canada.

The questionnaire, the commissions, announcement says, is supplementary to its studies along other lines, such as the country-wide registration of direct relief recipients which is now nearing completion; replies to the questionnaire, the announcement said, would be treated confidentially.

The questionnaire asks the number of employees working on September 30, 1929, 1933 and 1936. If there is a material decrease from 1929, it asks why. It requests information on the proportion of seasonal work to round-the-year employment; whether the firm operates on apprenticeship plan, and if a shortage of skilled workers is expected during the next twelve months.

PAYMENTS TO U.S. FARMERS

Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 12.—Payments to United States farmers under this year's soil conservation programme passed the first $1,000,000 mark yesterday, while New Deal officials laid plans for changes in future agricultural programmes.

The first $1,000,000 going to farmers for shifting lands from major crops to grasses and soil-building growths is only a small start in the flow of $470,000,000 payments under this year's programme. A total of 6,000,000 farm owners and operators are expected to receive cheques before the 1936 payments are concluded.

THREE ARE KILLED IN BUS CRASH

Associated Press

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Nov. 12.—A big bus and a twelve-ton truck, both traveling swiftly through predawn dusk, collided head-on near here early yesterday, killing three persons and injuring thirty-one, at least one critically.

The big vehicles crashed on steep Custa grade, just north of the city limits, both being virtually demolished. Rescue crews had to cut through wreckage with acetylene torches to free injured and recover the three dead from the bus.

A Popular Figure

THERE WILL BE MANY PEOPLE in the area of what is known as Greater Victoria who will note with regret that Mr. R. H. Pooley, K.C., M.L.A., has made up his mind that he will not contest the provincial and important constituency of Esquimalt at the next election.

Often The Times has differed with Mr. Pooley on questions of public policy. This newspaper, however, always has had a profound respect for the Esquimalt member's sincerity of purpose. He has dealt political blows and taken them. But he was never known to hit below the belt. To use one of his own expressions—he always has "played cricket."

Since 1912, Mr. Pooley, following his distinguished father, has been a member of the British Columbia Legislature. From 1928 until 1933 he occupied the responsible position of Attorney-General in the Tolmie government. There were times during his tenancy of that office when he may have found it difficult to adjust himself to the fast-moving events in the political and economic realm. They were times of uncertainty, times during which the whole world was compelled to descend from the heights of prosperity—or what then was considered prosperity—to the slough of despond. This province suffered, in common with the rest of the provinces of Canada and the world, but the department over which Mr. Pooley presided maintained its equilibrium, as it had done for many years before. Such challenges as there were in those days against constituted authority were met with a calm outlook.

Mr. Pooley, be it noted, stuck to his political guns in those days in 1933 when the Conservative party of British Columbia ran on the rocks, ditched its leader and, generally speaking, disintegrated. But not Mr. Pooley. He is the only Simon-pure Tory in the Legislature today.

The member for Esquimalt apparently is ready to leave public life, grow his pansies and primroses, play golf with his political enemies, and retain the sincere respect of all who have enjoyed his friendship. He is a native son of Vancouver Island, a native son of whom the island may well be proud.

Come to Victoria, "Jim!"

RT. HON. J. H. THOMAS, FORMerly Britain's Secretary of State for the Dominions and afterward Secretary of State for the Colonies, and then—well, the man who was supposed to have "spilled" some of the last budget "beans"—says he refuses to admit he is "a man living in retirement."

A roving correspondent of a popular London daily "bearded" "Jim" in his new home on the charming Sussex seafront, Ferring, and put a few really straight questions to the former cabinet minister, popular with royalty, and those who drop their 'aitches and those who Oxford-accent them. The correspondent was curious to know whether the "Jim" Thomas of railway, parliamentary, ministerial fame, had any positive ideas about his future.

Said Mr. Thomas, anent the suggestion that he might be running for Parliament again: "I can't say anything about that at present, but a smile spread across his face, and he hastened to assure me that he was now feeling much better and was still taking a keen interest in governmental matters." In the meantime, Mr. Thomas is working on his autobiography, putting in, on an average, about eight hours' work a day.

At the finish of the interview, to which we have referred, Mr. Thomas said: "Both my wife and I love it down here," and that he was contemplating a holiday. The former member of the British cabinet, in political seclusion for the time being, might well take our advice and come out to the Canadian west—and the west is Victoria, British Columbia. His favorite pastime is golf. He can play it here, no matter what the month of the year may be.

No Feminine Monopoly

SNAPSHOTS IN THE FAMILY ALbum of 1910 show mother moving about uneasily beneath a skyscraping concoction of feathers, flowers and preserved fruit. What a contrast with the compact, streamlined elevator hats of the moment.

But, as an antidote to that male assurance of superiority because "women have a monopoly on odd styles," the same album will show what the males of the family wore in those far-off days. There will be noted those flat-crowned, narrow-brimmed "lids" that made sober men of affairs look like innocent lads on the way to Sunday school; those three-inch collars that looked awful, felt awful and were well nigh impossible to fasten; the peg-topped trousers, ennobling the male form with pants eighteen inches too wide across the hips and six inches too short at the ankle; the buttoned shoes with fatty tumors on the top of the toes.

The male has scant reason to point the finger of scorn. He togs himself out in some pretty weird "duds" now and then. If women follow queer styles occasionally, they at least never went in for the fad of letting their socks slop down carelessly around their ankles.

The truth seems to be that these changing styles victimize us all. We are not the rugged individualists we like to imagine ourselves. Instead, male and female alike, we are regimented within an inch of our lives by the stylists—and all we can do is to take it and try to like it.

War on "Shirtism"

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT, AT long last, has taken a stand about the shirtist movement—Communist and Fascist. It seems to have dawned on the former Liberal Sir John Simon, the brilliant jurist and Home Secretary in the present Baldwin government, that the Mosleyites, headed by Sir Oswald Mosley, have no other object than that of overthrowing the government of which Sir John himself is a member. If it were not so, what would be the object of their existence?

Before Parliament is a bill called the "Public Order Bill." It authorizes and provides for a three-months' jail sentence and a fine of $250 for wearing political uniforms (we are not told exactly what "political uniforms" are), likewise providing for two years in prison for membership in any organization designed to "usurp the functions of police or armed forces or using a display of physical force or promoting any political object."

This is as it should be. After all, Great Britain is Europe's chief bulwark of democracy. There is no room there for the political upstart, be he Fascist or Communist. The Mosley invasion of London's East End where Jewry wields a considerable influence was a copy of Hitlerism. It obviously was carried out for the purpose of stirring up trouble. And it is permitted to wonder, incidentally, what such distinguished Britons as Sir Herbert Samuel and others of the same faith think of this "blackshirt" leader and the rest who are apeing Hitler and Mussolini.

Sunspots and Migrations

MANY EARTHLY PHENOMENA, ranging from wars to weather, have been blamed upon or at least correlated with sunspots and solar changes of which they are indices. Now, Dr. L. W. Wing, University of Wisconsin graduate research worker, has found that solar cycles apparently have an influence upon both the abundance and migration of many species of wild birds and animals.

Just how this influence is exercised is still unknown. The most probable theory seems to be that the sun has some effect on the reproductive glands, which in turn influence either the number or the vigor of the young. Whether the sun affects the animals directly, or indirectly by controlling the vitamin, mineral or other content of the food eaten by the animals, is still a subject for speculation. Some authorities believe the sun influences the virulence of diseases which attack the animals, rather than their reproductive systems.

At all events, Mr. Wing has found that the migration dates of some birds show a cycle which coincides with strength of radiation from the sun. The sandhill crane and the kingbird arrive early during certain periods of the sunspot cycle and later in others. Their cycle is eleven years long. The loon and the grebe, with five and a half year cycles, arrive early at both the high and low of the sunspot cycle, but later between these points.

In examining the question of whether cycles in abundance, as well as migration, show solar influence, Mr. Wing has compiled both new data and conclusions reached by other investigators. He has found that the brant come late when the sunspots are at an eleven-year maximum. Their abundance fluctuates with a longer cycle.

The sun has many cycles of various lengths, one superimposed on the other. Some animals seem to respond to one of these cycles, some to another, and some to several. The ruffed grouse or partridge, for instance, follows the eleven-year cycle in northern Wisconsin, but the five and a half year cycle in the southern part of the state. Excellent records kept by the Hudson's Bay Company indicate that the snowshoe rabbit follows the eleven-year cycle. The wolf, marten and fisher seem to follow a very long cycle, probably seventy-three years. Even certain insects and fish apparently follow solar cycles.

These findings were made in the Game Management Department of Wisconsin's College of Agriculture, the first such department established in any agricultural college. The trend toward study of wild birds and animals is a reflection of the growing tendency to regard game as a farm crop.

Notes

"Rome has a ban on horn-honking." It is doubtful, however, whether this will prevent Il Duce from blowing his own.

After reading that huge current best seller, "Gone With the Wind," is handy for placing on papers to keep them from going with the wind.

Ontario children, arrested for Hallowe'en pranks, were locked in cells with four tramps, and the children's parents protested. It is probable the tramps felt it was harsh on them, too.

"Why are some things illegal in one town and quite legal or permitted in another town?" The Nanaimo Herald asks. "Why should proprietary liquor clubs flourish in Vancouver and be frowned out of existence in other cities?" The answer apparently is for the same reason that while Sunday baseball and football are prohibited in Victoria they are the big public events of the week in Nanaimo, Courtenay and other up-island centres.

As our thoughts turned back on Remembrance Day, one of the inescapable conclusions was the absurdity of the simple faith we once had about that of 1914-1918 being a war to end war. In spite of all the suffering and the destruction, the nations of Europe were not turned from their ambitions and their hatreds, and all promises and mechanisms meant to conserve world peace have proved ineffectual. There has been war nearly all the time since 1918 on every major continent, save, as The Seattle Times pointedly reminds us, the North American.

Mr. Pooley says farewell and goes back to his primroses—and an age seems to close with his going—Mr. Bruhn searches for a way out—Mrs. Smith speaks for youth—and Mr. Winch proves tireless.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

FAREWELL

IN THE FRETFUL FEVER of practical politics, they come and they go and seldom are they remembered six months after the election. But good old Harry Pooley, his yellow primroses, his bristling red eyebrows, his evil-smelling pipe, his bark which was always so much worse than his bite—these things have always seemed to have a permanence denied to governments and to legislatures, to be an essential part of British Columbia and its politics, a distinct and enduring feature of our own little civilization.

It was a jolt, therefore, on Tuesday, a sharp intimation of mortality, to hear from Mr. Pooley's own lips his valedictory and his farewell to politics. This elder statesman, who came here in 1912 and has been here ever since, while all his comrades in arms fell around him, has had his fill at last of public life. He is going back to Esquimalt, to his primroses, his dry flies and his hunting dogs and the next Legislature, without him, will never seem the same.

Wise in the ways of politics, long past the stage of mere disillusionment and mellowed by the years into a high regard even for the Pattullo government, Mr. Pooley has seen in the sky the sure signs of an approaching election. If there were no other evidence in the increased appropriations of the budget you could be sure of an election, said Mr. Pooley, by the increase in the publicity vote. That, said Mr. Pooley, speaking from his own practical experience, can mean nothing but a poll very shortly.

It was because he expects an election before the House sits again, and because he will not sit again in the House after this session, that Mr. Pooley chose this occasion to announce that he was through with politics for good and to say his final farewell. The House heard it in a dead silence, knowing that it was seeing the last of a good man, a gallant fighter, a strangely boyish and lovable character who leaves here without a single enemy. And the Prime Minister looked a little sad, remembering, no doubt, all the good times he and Mr. Pooley used to have fighting each other and betting on every election and growing old in politics together.

BROKERS

BEFORE SAYING his simple and gruff farewell, Mr. Pooley became for a moment the old fighting politician of old-time. Eyes flashing, eyebrows curling, jaw out, he lit into the Vancouver Stock Exchange and the mining brokers generally, as he used to light into the Oliver government when he was leading the Opposition. He was tired of politics, he said, but he would have loved just thirty days back in his old attorney-general's seat to clean up these financial gentry or, alternatively, to close them up for good.

WANDERER

THE CHIEF SPEECH of the day came from another of the Tolmie ministers—Mr. Bruhn, who has traveled a long way since he went into a Conservative government. Where he has traveled, where he stands now and just where he is heading for were not made clear by his customary well-delivered speech. He is against party machines of all labels. He is against the Pattullo government. He is against the C.C.F., but just where he stands in the terms of practical politics the House couldn't find out.

Mr. Bruhn visualizes in place of the present political set-up something entirely new, a government devoted only to the welfare of the province, not interested in patronage, not controlled by campaign fund contributors and liquor interests, not wearing any of the present party labels. This, says he, we must have if we are to save democracy, since the blunderings and rottenness of the existing party system are forcing the people to turn to lunatic economic experiments.

Where he expects to get such a government, Mr. Bruhn could not say, but he seemed to advocate just about the same programme as that long ago outlined by Mr. Connell, which caused his split with the C.C.F. Mr. Bruhn did not come out in actual support of Mr. Connell, but he could not have spoken more highly of him if he were following him. The fact that Mr. Bruhn is a Conservative in name and in good standing with the Conservative Party, gives you a rough idea of the confusion appearing in party lines these days.

SWEDEN

THE BEST PART of his speech was a description of the historic compromise between capitalism and Socialism in his native country of Sweden. He thinks we may have to come to something like that here, which is just about what Mr. Connell proposes and certainly is not what the Conservative Party of British Columbia proposes.

Mr. Bruhn didn't care about that. He was saying what he thought regardless of party labels, but just what can be done about it in terms of actual politics, according to the methods of democracy as we know it, Mr. Bruhn didn't say. He, like so many other men in these shifting times, thinks he knows where to strike, but is still in search of a weapon.

WOMAN'S VIEW

MRS. SMITH contributed her usual brisk little speech on matters which she understands. Wisely she sticks to her own field, giving the House a woman's viewpoint, which is exceedingly valuable. Chiefly she advocated improvements in the educational system of the country, improvements in library service and a system of training for young men who have come out into the world since the beginning of the depression without a trade and without a chance to get a job.

Mr. Carson was the first Liberal to follow Mr. Pooley, and he seized the opportunity of speaking for his party when he expressed keen regret at the Esquimalt member's intended retirement. If all Conservatives were like Mr. Pooley, the Conservative Party would still be in office, and deservedly so, said Mr. Carson generously. Everybody in the House applauded his hope that Mr. Pooley would change his mind and decide to stay in the game.

DROPS OF WATER

THE ELDER MR. WINCH wound up the day in his insistent, cheerful fashion, boring away at the government as usual, like drops of water on a stone, a peculiarly hard stone which so far has shown no signs of wearing away under his pressure.

It is all very well, said Mr. Winch, for fellows like Mr. Bruhn to visualize a happy compromise between Socialism and capitalism, a system of having your cake and eating it, but such comforting dreams, alas, can never come true. There is no middle course, and even Sweden will find it out. We must choose irrevocably between one system and the other and in the end we must choose Socialism, because capitalism is dying.

GOODWILL TOUR FOR ISLAND

To the Editor:—The executive committee of the Tourist Trade Development Association met yesterday afternoon, to receive the general secretary's annual report.

After the meeting the chairman issued the following statement:

"Our auditors have been asked to prepare the annual balance sheet of the association.

"We are satisfied that the work of the association during 1936 has been of considerable commercial value to the community, and ought to be continued.

"In giving our general secretary, Mr. T. H. Eslick, three months' leave of absence in order that he may negotiate for the proposed goodwill tour of the United States on behalf of Vancouver Island, we wish to put on record our entire satisfaction with his efforts during the past two years."

FLIGHT OF ALBERTA "CAPITAL"

To the Editor:—Mr. Hamilton's rather lengthy exposition of what constitutes "capital" is very interesting, although tinged with the usual "better than that" attitude of most amateur economists. I do not profess to understand the ABC of economics as expounded by the C.C.Fers and Social Creditors, but I hold the old-fashioned idea that money on deposit or in savings accounts in a bank, bonds and marketable securities constitute capital in so far as they can be utilized to finance new business and production.

With due defetence to Mr. Hamilton's superior wisdom, I should like to know what is to prevent this form of capital from taking flight from Alberta, as undoubtedly it has done. If Mr. Hamilton knew his Alberta as well as his economic ABC, he could not dispute this point.

In my ignorance I supposed that stocks of imported merchandise, sold and not replenished, might be construed as flight of capital, if the proceeds of such sales left the province. Correct me if I am wrong, Mr. Hamilton.

I am glad to hear of Albertans taking their "fortunes" along with them when they leave the province, and I expect British Columbia will welcome these same "fortunes" even if they are only in the form of "money" and not capital.

"VENTILATING THE POTATO BOARD"

To the Editor:—I was glad to read in your newspaper the letter of John Day ventilating the practices of those who have been masquerading under the disguise of a "Board to Aid the Grower."

I read too with great appreciation Mr. Winch's capable defence in the House of the rights and liberties of the farmers. As regards the alibi that Mr. Barrow sought to establish on behalf of the board upon the score of "regrading of potatoes" it may be appropriate to relate my personal experience of this "regrading." In 1935 I was gathering my crop upon my land which lies alongside the West Road, Saanich. Several motorcars stopped and passengers alighted in order to buy my potatoes, for which they offered me at sight a dollar per sack (a rate of twenty dollars a ton, then a fair price). Not wishing to be prosecuted as a potato bootlegger I refused to sell, and shipped the cream of my crop, hand-picked, over to this Board to Aid Farmers, who offered me six dollars a ton after having regraded my potatoes as "pig feed"!

NO TIME FOR NON-ESSENTIALS

To the Editor:—With reference to the opinion expressed by your correspondent, Major A. H. Jukes, in your issue of November 4, appertaining to "Social Credit" versus Prof. Cole: Surely in this year of grace 1936 the time is long past overdue for folk to keep continually splitting hairs over non-essentials instead of getting down to fundamenals. Procrastination is the thief of time. Therefore, all persons interested in progress should be in favor of reforms and paving the way for legislation to be enacted in order to cope with evils that have crept in upon society during the regime of the present capitalistic system.

To my mind, Major Jukes hits the nail squarely on the head as he states it is not a question as to what Prof. Cole's opinion is or any other professor. The paramount vital fundamental question to be dealt with at this present juncture is whether a reform such as Social Credit is a step in the right direction in order to forestall the possibility of a dictatorship being thrust upon the people.

Surely it is obvious and apparent a dictatorship form of government, in any form whatsoever, is repugnant to the British ideal.

A HALLOWE'EN EPISODE

To the Editor:—Allow me through the medium of your columns to express my thanks to the thoughtful citizen who so nobly assisted the boys of Cedar Hill in their efforts to have such a successful Hallowe'en. Apparently my friend suffered a mental relapse in his attempt to make the day both pleasant and long remembered for the youngsters, or is it the customary procedure for boys to light their Hallowe'en bonfires at six o'clock in the morning?

In his enthusiasm, however, the gentleman overlooked the fact that his early morning prowl left rather obvious tell-tale marks in the morning dew. It seems the perfect crime is still to be committed.

For me, this little episode drives home very forcibly two points: Firstly, the powers of observation of school children are possibly more acute than we judge them to be; and secondly, if this is an example of what a "leading" citizen does, then there really is no need for a character education in our schools.

My only regret in this matter is that I had not been present to help the bearer of the torch during his revels; I know of several stray dogs in the immediate vicinity to the tails of which we might have tied tin cans.

SECURITIES ACT

From The Prince Rupert News

There seems to be general dissatisfaction in the mining district over the working of the Securities Act. Everywhere the people interested in mines and the financing of mines complain that it is impossible under present conditions to raise money for the development of good properties.

While we all realize that the public has to be protected in connection with the selling of shares in joint stock companies, yet all mining is a gamble, even more so than fishing, and people who dabble in mining stocks know that they are taking chances. It does not seem wise to retard the development of the mining areas by making it seem that mining stock investments are comparable with consuls.

LOSING ITS NERVE?

From The London Advertiser

Announcement that Lloyds, the great British insurance concern, has decided not to underwrite any more war insurance to British property owners, recalls a story of Great War days about a young British officer on leave from the front who went into a branch of the famous Cox's bank to try and arrange for a substantial advance on the strength of his future army pay. The manager demurred, and, as gently as possible, said: "I don't like to mention this, but you know there is a chance you may be killed over there." "Well, all right," blithely replied the young subaltern. "But I'll tell you what it is, Cox, old man. You're losing your nerve."

Public "Mined" Pooley Says

Attacks Practices of Brokers in Floating Stock Issues

Demand for control of brokers in Vancouver who, he charged, were "mining the public instead of the ground," was voiced by R. H. Pooley, K.C., Unionist, Esquimalt, in his "farewell" formal speech in the Legislature Tuesday.

"We must protect the prospector instead of letting the broker get all the money," he declared.

Mr. Pooley said that on the set up of one company out of $858,000 to be collected from the public only $120,610 would go into development.

The company was organized on June 30 this year with a 3,000,000 share capital, he said. One man purchased 1,261,000 shares for 1 cent each, paying $13,610. He took options on another 1,500,000 at 3 cents for 200,000 shares, 5 cents for 500,000 shares, 8 cents for 500,000 shares and 12 cents for the remaining 300,000 shares, thus having control of practically the whole share issue.

"The point is," said Mr. Pooley, "that the stock is now quoted on the Vancouver curb at 30 cents a share. Presuming the man takes up his option, the company will get only $120,610 for development out of shares that sell for $858,000. That's what I call mining the public and not the ground. No wonder outside capital won't come into the province."

"I'd like to be in the Attorney-General's job for just thirty days and I'd sure clean up this situation," he said.

"What did you do when you were here for five years?" asked Attorney-General Sloan.

"I put a few of them behind the bars," he replied.

Mr. Pooley touched also upon the conditions in Chinese vegetable growing and marketing, previously referred to by Clive Planta, Peace River, and said that the one way to deal with the situation was to pass an act making it compulsory for all persons selling or serving Chinese-grown vegetables to display a placard saying so.

CITY PIONEER PASSES AWAY

Late Mrs. Sarah E. Adams Here Sixty-one Years; Funeral Saturday

Another pioneer link with early memories of Victoria was severed at midnight Tuesday when death came to Mrs. Sarah Esther Adams, widow of the late Frank W. Adams, who passed away at the age of seventy-nine years after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Adams was widely known throughout Victoria for her extensive philanthropic work during the early part of this century, and the Y.W.C.A. in this city stands as a memorial to work in which she aided.

Born of United Empire Loyalist stock in Picton, Ontario, Mrs. Adams left her home town with her parents as a girl of six years. She moved to California at that time. Twelve years later, during a visit to a relative in Victoria, she decided to make her home here, and shortly after she married the late Frank Adams, in November, 1876.

Their first home was on the site where the Royal Victoria Theatre now stands, at Broughton and Blanshard streets. Subsequently they built the old Adams home on Balfour Avenue, in 1891, where Mrs. Adams lived until overtaken by ill health several years ago.

As one who was always interested in philanthropic enterprizes, Mrs. Adams took part in the establishing here of the first Y.W.C.A. and furnished the first bedroom in the original building. Later she took an active part in the financial campaign for the funds for the present building.

In recognition of her work for this institution she was made an honorary life president. The Oriental Mission Home here was also a subject of her many philanthropic endeavors and she served for many years as a member of the board of this institution.

She was predeceased by her husband in 1920. At that time Mr. Adams was head of the well-known ship chandlers firm of E. B. Marvin & Company.

She is survived by a brother, I. Gerow of California; two sons, Walter E. Adams of Victoria and Ernest Adams of Tacoma; two daughters, Miss Isla Adams of Victoria and Mrs Robert Eadie of Montreal; eight grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors, where Rev. Daniel Walker will officiate, at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Board Sold 6,762 Tons of Potatoes

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—Approximately 6,762 tons of potatoes, with a gross value of $171,523, were sold by the British Columbia coast vegetable marketing board during the pool period from June 1 to October 7, according to a statement just issued by A. H. Peterson, board secretary.

After deducting selling charges of $13,523, the return to the growers, delivered in Vancouver, was $158,000, the average price for the period being $23.30 a ton.

The average price for the period from June 1, 1935, to May 31, 1936, was $17.75 a ton.

Seek Removal Of School Costs

Union Head Welcomes Government Move on Social Services

"The Union of B.C. Municipalities welcomes the announcement that municipalities are to be relieved of social service costs," declared Reeve Joseph T. Brown, Surrey, president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, commenting upon the provincial budget.

"The union," he added, "now anxiously awaits the announcement of the government's policy with respect to educational costs.

"It is pointed out that the government's assumption of social service costs represents only a matter of some 20 per cent of the burden we had complained of and that the really substantial request of the municipalities is for the relief of the load from school taxation."

HOUSE DEAN TO QUIT POLITICS

R. H. Pooley, M.P.P. Esquimalt, Announces Impending Retirement From Public Life

R. H. Pooley, K.C., former Attorney-General and dean of the British Columbia Legislature, who has held the Esquimalt seat in the House for twenty-four consecutive years, will retire from the public life of the province when the present assembly is dissolved.

In the House Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Pooley said good-bye, stating he was sure there would be an election before the next session came around and he would not be a candidate.

The current session is Mr. Pooley's twenty-fifth in the B.C. Legislature. He was elected in 1912, attending his first session in January, 1913. He stood as a Conservative until 1933, when accepting the Tolmie Union label.

"I have spent many happy hours in this chamber," he told the members. "I remember also when we sat in the old room upstairs and there was not a Liberal in the House."

Predicting an early election, Mr. Pooley said:

"You younger members of the House take my advice. When you see a big loan bill coming down, an increase in road appropriations, more money in the publicity vote and larger expenditures generally, you can be pretty sure there's an election coming."

As his final message, he left the thought that while many harsh words were said about politicians, he had found them, by and large, as honest and of as much integrity as any business man.

Dream Book Is Relic From Ancient Egypt

London.—A new and unique relic from ancient Egypt is a dream book used over 3,000 years ago to advise whether dreams were good or bad.

The book, which archaeologists call very remarkable, lists various things that an Egyptian was likely to dream of. Each item is followed by the terse verdict: "good" or "bad."

If an Egyptian dreamed of binding fast baleful men at night—good. It meant defeat of his enemy. To dream of munching a cucumber—bad. There would be a quarrel.

The book is one of eighteen papyrus manuscripts which the British Museum has just published.

WEDDINGS

BUTLER—McHATTIE

A wedding ceremony of much interest was performed in the Sluggett Memorial Baptist Church Tuesday evening by Rev. E. V. Apps, when Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McHattie, Keating Crossroad and formerly of Victoria, became the bride of Mr. Charles Lawrence Butler, twin son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Butler, Keating Crossroad.

The church had been decorated by friends of the bride, the ceremony being performed beneath an arch of ivy and chrysanthemums, with a large white bell from which streamers of white paper were stretched to the two smaller arches at the end of the aisles.

Entering the church on the arm of her father to the strains of "Lohengrin" Bridal Chorus, the bride made a pretty picture in her gown of white satin with a stand-up lace Medici collar and long, full sleeves with lace insets. Her embroidered net veil was worn cap fashion beneath a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations and Ophelia roses.

Attending as bridesmaids were Miss May Burns, cousin of the bride, and Miss Dorothy Butler, sister of the groom, wearing pretty frocks of rose and green taffeta respectively, fashioned with long, full skirts, puff sleeves and shirred bodice. They wore silver leaves in their hair and sandals to match, and carried arm bouquets of pink chrysanthemums. The groom was supported by his twin brother, Mr. Claude Butler, while Mr. Douglas McHattie, brother of the bride, and Mr. Eric Butler acted as ushers.

Miss Daisy Sluggett played the wedding music and during the ceremony the hymn "O Love Divine" was sung. During the signing of the register a solo, "My Prayer," was sung by Miss Margaret Clark, cousin of the groom, who was accompanied by Mrs. J. Stewart.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the West Saanich Athletic Hall, which had been attractively decorated, the young couple standing beneath an arch composed of autumn flowers to receive the good wishes of their friends. Mrs. J. T. McHattie, mother of the bride, becomingly gowned in a Paris blue ensemble with velvet hat to match, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. C. H. Butler, mother of the groom, wearing a smart navy blue crepe dress with hat to match. They wore corsage bouquets of carnations and swansonia.

The three-tier wedding cake held the place of honor on the bride's table, which was covered with a lace cloth, with vases of roses with fern and pink candles in silver sconces.

Dancing was enjoyed by the guests during the evening, the orchestra being composed of friends of the groom.

Among the many wedding gifts was a lace luncheon cloth and a carving set from the West Saanich Basketball Club, and a mahogany living-room table from the groom's fellow workers.

For traveling, the bride wore a green knitted suit with brown accessories, a British imported tweed coat and a brown velour hat. They left on the midnight boat for the mainland, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will make their home at Brentwood.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Leitch, Mrs. A. Sheret, Miss M. Sheret, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Seaton, all of Portland, Oregon, and Mr. and Mrs. Snider and Miss O. Snider of Metchosin.

Over 400 Danced at Government House

His Honor and Mrs. Hamber Delightful Hosts Tuesday Evening; Two Victoria Girls Make Debut

Over 400 guests attended the delightful reception which followed the second sessional dinner at Government House on Tuesday evening.

His Honor and Mrs. Hamber received in the drawing-room, the aides in attendance, including Capt. W. H. Molson, M.C., Brigadier Sutherland Brown, Major M. W. Turner, Major Vincent McKenna, Lieut.-Commander F. R. Gow, Capt. R. L. Mitchell and Capt. Van der Vilet.

Mrs. Hamber was exquisitely gowned in white hammered satin, the full train falling from the waist, diamond clips marking the shoulders and two huge roses, one of pink, the other of deep red, marking the front of the V-shaped decolletage.

DINNER PARTY

Members of the provincial legislature were guests at the dinner party, covers being laid at a table centred with long low silver bowl filled with antirrhinums and carnations shading from pale pink to deep rose, and illuminated with tall rose tapers in silver candlesticks.

Chrysanthemums in glorious profusion were massed throughout the house. In the entrance hall and corridors huge bowls of yellow and bronze blossoms of the single variety added vivid splashes of color. In the drawing-rooms pink and white blossoms were in evidence, with one great bowl of deep red specimens over the fireplaces. In the ballroom, huge shaggy blooms, ranging from palest yellow to copper were banked around the fireplace, on the orchestra dais and in the window embrasures.

Many members of the younger social set came in for the reception and dance, and the occasion served to mark the formal debut of Miss Audrey Homer-Dixon, daughter of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Homer-Dixon, and Miss Denise Bullen, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bullen, who recently returned from school in Europe. Miss Homer-Dixon wore a charming frock of white chiffon, with girdle of cherry-colored chiffon and a long-floor-length cape of the cherry chiffon, tied at the neck with heavy gold cord. Cherry-colored slippers and a bouquet of Talisman rosebuds completed her striking toilette.

Miss Bullen was in a white net picture frock, the bouffant skirt being marked at the waistline with a girdle of gold and crystal beads, the accompany brief cape being of the net similarly beaded. Her bouquet was of Ophelio rosebuds.

.. AND IT'S REALLY TRUE! RINSO SOAKS CLOTHES 4 OR 5 SHADES WHITER WITHOUT SCRUBBING

I KNOW—CLOTHES LAST LONGER, TOO. AND WHAT SUDS IN HARDEST WATER! RINSO SAVES LOTS OF MONEY

Now—get whiter clothes just by soaking them

IN TUB or washer, Rinso's thick suds loosen dirt quickly and safely. Clothes come bright and snowy—without scrubbing, without boiling. Even grimy cuffs and edges need only a gentle rub or two between the fingers. So easy on the clothes (and on YOU, too!).

How much easier Rinso makes dishwashing! Grease soaks right off in its creamy suds. Dishes, pots, pans come clean without a trace of greasy film on them. Recommended by makers of 24 washing machines. Gives rich suds no matter how hard the water may be. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, knows that the neighborhood is buzzing with gossip over the sudden disappearance of FRANK KENDRICK, whose engagement to Marcia has been announced.

Since his disappearance, a shortage in Kendrick's business accounts has been discovered.

Refusing to let others know how deeply she has been hurt, Marcia, who is interested in amateur dramatics, goes to the tryouts of the Stagecraft Guild to try for a part in the new play.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

The Stagecraft Guild's casting committee awaited the ambitious talent of the village in the Bobbs Neck Community Auditorium. A few early seekers of roles were seated, in various conditions of nervousness, through the auditorium itself, while the seven members of the committee had withdrawn to a private room to pass the time until 8.15 o'clock, when tryouts were to begin.

One committee had chosen the play; the casting committee would people it; another committee had the task of selecting, also from the membership, an amateur director; still another would create the scenery and costumes. Such was the democracy of the Guild. Annual elections were intended to keep the committees fresh. With four plays a year scheduled, a member of the Guild might well be in turn an actor, director, stagehand and designer in one twelve-month.

gods, addressed his six fellow members of the casting committee after finding by his watch that ten minutes must pass before the evening's labors could begin.

"There are twenty-seven parts in this cheese of a show," he said, "counting clear down to the brat in the third act who says 'Yes, father,' twice and 'No, father,' once. I'll laugh raucously if only twenty-six people show up tonight."

There was no response, but Mike needed none.

"I figure," he continued, "that 98 per cent of all contestants in this sort of bilge are 100 per cent rotten actors to start with, and since the by-laws allow the casting committee only this one evening to finish off the job, there won't be much selectivity involved. The only work in any event will be sponging off our self-respect afterward."

Miss Sellers, the chairman, who taught English in the high school, volunteered a defence of the dignity of the Guild's aims. Miss Sellers continually volunteered for a variety of endeavor in Bobbs Neck.

"Why, Mr Bradford," she said, smiling with some coyness to cloak the scolding she intended to give this agnostic, "you don't really feel that way about it, of course! If you did, you wouldn't have become a member of the Guild in the first place, or have permitted yourself to be elected to our committee in the second place."

"It's these family memberships that did me wrong," sighed Bradford. "Dues, $5 a head; $10 for the family. My wife took a family membership and she put my name on the application. That made me a member. And since I suppose everybody dodges these idiotic committee jobs, someone picked on me and put my name on the ballot at the last election, and here I am, while Joan, the cause of it all, sits at home in comfort. Pardon me! Forgot I was speaking to the members of the committee."

"I just know you're teasing!" said Miss Sellers, who knew that he was not.

"Yes, ma'am," said Bradford. "Well, come on, judges. Let's get out there and get it over with. My dear Joan, how I'd love to smack you right on the jaw!"

Two hours sufficed for an elimination review of the talents of the forty-one candidates who had appeared for the tryouts, with Miss Sellers on the stage giving them lines to say and actions to perform, while the other members of the committee, scattered "out front," graded them. Two hours, and then the grades were tallied, the chosen were announced and the luckless departed, and the committee and the selected persons assembled anew for the definite assignment of roles.

For this purpose the members of the committee gathered on the stage and compared notes, occasionally calling some person up for a further tryout. It was decided immediately and unanimously that the part of Bully McGuire should go to Ralph Hanson Jr., whose father had trotted home from the station in an inadequate overcoat a few hours before. Ralph Jr. was known favorably to his contemporaries in the village, and to his elders he was "that awfully nice Hanon boy." The $10 which had paid for his family's membership in the Guild was money he had earned—as he earned all that was pent on himself, at every sort of job he could do and still remain in high school.

The part of Sally, Bully's elder sister, went without debate to Helen Waddell, Marcia Canfield's closest friend, whose father owned the $90 overcoat. Helen had the attributes of success; she was pretty, and serious, and clever, and she was popular. But at twenty-four years she could only spend her time wishing she had a job, for there was a parental injunction that people in the village would think they needed the money if she had gainful employment.

The casting went on. The members of the committee found themselves in surprising agreement as the various roles and available players were considered, and where infrequent disagreements developed, they resorted to further tryouts.

At last only two roles were still to be filled, that of Julia, the leading woman, and Emma, Julia's sister. And only two players, of course, remained to be assigned. One was Miss Canfield. The other was Dorothy Osborn, whose father had the $47.50 overcoat and unheated automobile.

The committee members conferred. Apparently they could not agree; for Miss Sellers stepped forward and addressed the players who were her audience.

"Two parts remain," she said. "One is Julia, who, as you probably know, is the heroine of 'Half-acre in Eden.' Julia finds the path of love a very rocky path, indeed. The other part is Emma, Julia's sister, a very jealous and acid sort of woman—truly a remarkable opportunity for some very fine acting. The committee wishes Miss Osborn and Miss Canfield to come up on the stage again before making a final decision. Miss Osborn, will you come first, please?"

Dorothy went forward and again paraded her histrionic abilities as they were suggested by Miss Sellers. A murmur of polite applause rewarded her.

"Now, Miss Canfield."

Marcia went to the stage, read a few lines, struck a few poses, walked in this manner and that manner, as Miss Sellers prompted. Again a murmur of applause.

The committee members bent their heads to confer. Marcia started back to her seat. In the silence which awaited the decision, Dorothy Osborn spoke to a girl seated beside her, and her voice carried—it seemed meant to cary.

"Well, Marcia certainly could do the Julia part to perfection," said Dorothy. "She has had such recent and excellent experience in—how did Miss Sellers put in?—the rocky path of love. Just made for the part, don't you think?"

Marcia sat down. No one could have told that she had heard. Or minded.

Mike Bradford, who was not unacquainted with village gossip, had seen, had heard and had understood. He felt more kindly toward his fellow committeemen, then, as Miss Sellers, having polled them for the final verdict, spoke again.

"The committee assigns Miss Canfield to the part of Julia," she announced. "Miss Osborn will play Emma."

Bradford caught up with Dorothy Osborn half-way to the exits, as the crowd started homeward.

"You'll knock 'em into the aisles as Emma," he said. "Baby, you were born to the part!"

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

For headaches due to eye disturbances, certain preventive and relaxing measures are useful. Sometimes relief is obtained by keeping the eyes closer to the reading material or to the work. In such cases, properly-fitted glasses are of great benefit.

Some people get the habit of squeezing their eyelids together blinking and squinting. This brings tension on the muscles of the face and a pull on the muscles at the back of the head, and the result is likely to be pain in the back of the head.

Dr. M. Fishbein

Sometimes relief from headache associated with eyestrain may be had by stopping work and looking off into the distance for a while, after which one is able again comfortably to focus the eyes on the work.

Such cases indicate that the eye may need some help and a visit should be made to a person capable of determining the physical condition of the eye and of deciding whether glasses should be prescribed.

Sometimes headache from eyestrain is a reflex headache associated with symptoms elsewhere in the body. In such cases the patient may also be nauseated, fatigued, and easily irritated. Certainly it is not wise in such cases to relieve the headache by using sedative or narcotic drugs. These drugs merely mark the symptoms without giving anything resembling permanent relief.

Another type of headache is that associated with insufficiencies of the blood, or anemia. A suitable examination of the blood will indicate whether there is a sufficient number of red blood cells or a sufficient amount of red coloring matter in the blood. If a deficiency is found, treatment will help rebuild the blood to a more nearly normal state.

Head pains of any kind are, of course, regularly associated with changes in tissues of the brain and those that surround the brain.

Infections or inflammations such as meningitis and encephalitis are regularly associated with severe headaches. Accumulation of fluid in the brain, in various disorders, may first manifest itself by pain, and later, as pressure continues, by convulsions or unconsciousness.

When the blood is deficient in number of red blood cells, or hemoglobin which carries oxygen, the tissues change in character and pain may be a symptom of such change.

In every instance it is obviously of greatest importance to have the necessary examinations to determine whether any of these abnormal conditions exist.

The deadly white amanita, sometimes mistaken for edible puffball mushrooms, gives no warning of its poison when eaten, because it has excellent flavor.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1936

Contrary to superstitition, this date is read by astrologers as fortunate for the dwellers on the planet earth, although certain adverse influences should be taken into consideration.

The morning hours are stimulating to persons who carry heavy responsibilities. Executives of every rank are subject to a good planetary guidance. Governors of states should benefit, but they should safeguard their health.

Workers should be lucky under this sway, which seems to promise plenty of work for skilled hands, although the general tendency will be to push the human machine to the extent of its strength.

Women should stay in the background while this configuration prevails. Those in public life should be careful to avoid mistakes, for there will be a tendency to criticize them and, in some cases, to eliminate them from high offices.

Farmers will profit, for there will be extraordinary demand for staple foods. Meats and grains will bring high prices in the winter.

Stock exchanges are to regain their old-time popularity with speculators who will find many things to hold attention through the next six months.

Reckless expenditure of money will characterize the young and middle-aged. Places of amusement will reap harvests next month, it is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of gain in property and friendships. For certain ones secret love affairs are prognosticated.

Children born on this day probably will be reserved, thoughtful and given to analysis. Subjects of this sign win fame through their superior talents.

Those who have celebrated this day as a birthday include Edwin Booth, actor, 1833, and Joseph Hooker, soldier, 1814.

MUSSOLINI DECORATED

Rome, Nov. 12 (Associated Press).—Chancellor Hitler yesterday conferred on Premier Mussolini the Order of the Red Cross of Germany. Leopold Charles Edward, Grand Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, planned the decoration on Il Duce at the Venezia Palace.

Quality has no substitute

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MOTHER MUST BE AS STUBBORN AS BABY AT WEANING TIME

No one would be intent upon making a child miserable by depriving him of drinking his milk by bottle, were it not for the unhappy results of such habits. "My baby won't go to sleep without his bottle," is often just an excuse. What the mother means is that she can't see any sense of taking it away when the child seems to enjoy it so.

Mrs. S. describes a very common result of prolonged dependence upon bottles. "I nursed my baby until she was eleven months old and then gave her a bottle. She is now two years old and still eats the same strained vegetables, cereals and soups that she did when she was seven months old. Outside of one boiled egg a day she gets no solid foods at all and if I give them to her she chews and chews and then spits them out. She hasn't had any orange or prune or tomato juice for about eight months. She still takes three bottles of milk a day. I am worried because I think she should have more solid foods."

BOTTLES MUST GO

The reason she refuses solid foods is because she is satisfying her appetite by her bottles of milk. The bottles must go immediately. Take them away and don't let her head-bumping or hair-pulling influence you to bring them back. Don't be alarmed if she won't accept any milk by cup for a time.

Give her a wholesome diet. Prepare as much of her food as possible with milk. Give her milk soups, milk puddings, milk with her cereal and such dairy foods as cottage cheese.

ADULT WAYS OF EATING

Remember that as long as you feed her like a seven-months-old baby she hasn't any opportunity to learn to eat, to chew, to swallow solid foods like a child of two years. You are denying her the practice of more adult ways of eating. I feel sure that if you are convinced that bottles are a detriment to her well-being, that you will offer a diet that will be acceptable to her, and she will bow to your dictates. Don't scold, nag, wheedle or plead with her to eat; put the food before her and leave her alone. If you make this an issue between you, the child can be as stubborn as you.

Two leaflets which will be helpful are "Weaning from Bottle to Cup" and "Diet from Two to Four Years," which may be had for a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

Decree Nisi Is Under Fire

British Parliament Urged To Alter Divorce Law

Associated Press

London, Nov. 12.—Great Britain's decree nisi system of divorce came under fire today in the House of Commons.

Led by A. P. Herbert, M.P. for Oxford University, sponsors of the bill known as the "Marriage Act of 1937," urged abolition of the seventy-six-year-old decree nisi and modernization of the present restricted divorce laws.

Under current English law, infidelity is the lone ground for divorce.

The bill, formally introduced in Parliament yesterday, would broaden the grounds for divorce where marriages have "irreparably collapsed," but no divorce would be granted within five years of the date of wedding.

"The measure would greatly strengthen the institution of marriage, and at the same time increase respect for law," said Herbert. The House of Commons is expected to consider the measure formally November 26.

The bill would affect only England and Wales, not including Scotland, where the first decree dissolves marriage once and for all.

HOW NEW "15 MINUTE SOAKING" SOAP MAKES WASHDAY SO EASY YOU'RE AMAZED!

● The latest amazing "no-scrub" soap invention, OXYDOL, comes to you from the makers of gentle Ivory. It is the result of a patented process which makes soap much faster acting, yet keeps it safe . . . a formula that makes it 2 to 3 times whiter washing than less modern soaps, by actual tests.

Just 15 minutes' soaking to the tubful . . . no scrubbing, no boiling . . . and white clothes come so white it will amaze you! Even tough spots come clean with just a few quick rubs between your fingers.

Yet OXYDOL is safe. Even sheerest cotton prints, soaked through 100 consecutive washings in OXYDOL suds, showed no perceptible sign of fading.

With OXYDOL you get thick, 3-inch suds—even in hard water. Suds that go to work on grease, dirt, stains, 2 to 3 times faster than less modern soaps.

White clothes come 4 to 5 shades whiter, by actual Tintometer tests. Yet every washable color stays brilliant, fresh! OXYDOL is economical, too. Tests show that it will go ½ to ⅔ again as far as even the latest soap chips on the market. One package often gives twice the suds—does twice the work—lasts twice as long as less modern soaps.

No wonder women by thousands are quitting bars, flakes, chips, and old-type "no-scrub" soaps for this remarkable new invention.

Try Under Money-Back Guarantee

Get OXYDOL from your dealer tomorrow. Unless it lives up to every claim, take partly used package back to dealer and get money refunded.

HERE'S MY NEW LOW PRICE, FOLKS!

Non-party Plea Is Advanced

R. W. Bruhn Would Rid B.C. of Present Political System

Before adjourning for Remembrance Day, the B.C. Legislature heard five speakers Tuesday in the budget debate, the oratory taking four hours in the afternoon, except for a brief recess in which the members attended a ceremony in the rotunda, where Premier Pattullo laid a wreath in memory of civil servants who fell overseas.

From Rolf W. Bruhn, Independent, Salmon Arm, came a plea for non-party government and discard of the "wasteful patronage" of the party system.

It was time to get rid of politicians in the business for personal gain, the former Minister of Public Works declared. He complimented Rev. Robert Connell, Opposition Leader, for his stand in this regard and told the government it could thank Mr. Connell, by his actions in the C.C.F. split, for putting it in the position it was.

The government might try to take hope out of its victories in the two by-elections this year, but he was sure the results would have been different in a general election.

SWEDISH SYSTEM

Mr. Bruhn advocated more careful methods of handling the province's natural resources, with a revision of the financial system along the lines of the Bank of Sweden, which controls the entire issue of currency.

Waterpower in British Columbia should be cheaper than anywhere else, but was dearer because of financial manipulation, he said.

Mrs. Paul Smith, Liberal, Burrard, making her first speech of the session, pleaded for a wider technical training of youths and said there was need for an occupational survey to discover which industries were most in need of trained workers. Dominion assistance should be given in technical education, she said, and a placement bureau set up with provincial help.

Praising the government's extra $50,000 vote for the University of B.C., she urged it to consider extending greater aid to libraries of rural schools.

The financial policy of the government, she said, had resulted in greater confidence in the financial security of the province among eastern people.

E. E. WINCH

E. E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, directed a scornful analysis of the budget toward the finance minister, saying his claims of higher credit were unfounded when B.C. bonds were quoted even lower than those of the Greater Vancouver Water Board and the government could get no credit from better business conditions which were in reality due to war preparations in Europe.

"What we should really do is weep at this rising tide of prosperity, caused in such fashion," he said.

R. H. Carson, Liberal, Kamloops, voiced appreciation of the municipal aid given in the budget, saying his city was satisfied the government had done as much as possible.

Many municipalities, he said, would not be satisfied no matter what they got. Vancouver, which itself collects half as much money as the provincial treasury, should be able to get along nicely.

The 1st Batt. Association will hold its annual meeting and smoker at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, November 17, at Britannia Branch Canadian Legion, 715 View Street, in commemoration of the first trench raid on the western front. This raid was organized and executed by the 7th Battalion. Further information may be obtained by telephoning the secretary, E 3057.

Great Britain has 4,500 of its ancient ruins, historic buildings, and other sights scheduled to be added to the national monuments.

Suffered With Sciatica for 25 Years

Thos who are subject to sciatica should read this letter from one who suffered for years before she found out how to obtain relief:—

"For 25 years I suffered from sciatica in my right side, and I had backaches which forced me to remain in bed for two or three weeks at a time. When I got up in the mornings, my arms and legs used to pain me almost unbearably. One day I heard of Kruschen Salts. I took a bottle of them without feeling much improvement. I tried a second bottle, and that time I felt better. I have kept on taking Kruschen ever since." —(Mrs.) H. L.

The pains of sciatica are frequently caused by an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients of these salts assist the internal organs to expel the dissolved acid from the system.

To Regulate Trade Schools

Pearson Brings Down Measure to Give B.C. Government Control

Schools in which young men and women are taught trades will come under regulation in British Columbia by a new "Trades School Act," introduced in the Legislature Tuesday by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor.

The vocations covered include: Construction, building, repair and operation of airplanes, automobiles, steam-engines, boilers, internal-combustion engines, machinery of all kinds, bricklaying, building, carpentry, stone-mason work, plastering, plumbing, fabrication of iron and steel, aviation, mining, lumbering, barbering, beauty-culture, hairdressing, dressmaking, millinery and any other vocation, occupation or calling designated as a trade by the regulations.

Trade schools in any of these vocations must be registered under the new measure, and will be subject to government inspection. Power is given the government to cancel registrations if insufficient instruction is given or charges are unreasonable.

The government is given power to prescribe hours of instruction, maximum fees, security for contracts between instructor and pupils, control the type of advertising done and to set prices charged for materials turned out, in addition to various other powers which give the government complete control over the institutions.

Her hash has such delicious flavor

they clamor for the recipe

TIME and time again she is asked what makes her hash so tasty, so full of flavor? Over and over again she tells her secret — "Add just a dash of Yorkshire Relish."

Just as our grandmothers grew herbs and roots which they used to flavor their cooking, so the modern home manager uses Yorkshire Relish to give mellow tastiness to her dishes. Use it in corned beef hash, meatloaf, stews, soups. It gives a flavor you cannot get with any other sauce.

It takes four years to make a bottle of Yorkshire Relish. Its flavor is matured from 20 carefully selected fruits, vegetables, herbs, spices, essences, measured and blended with test tube accuracy, steeped in cool vats for four years to produce this mellow, piquant flavorsome sauce.

Yorkshire Relish does you good, too. Its aromatic herbs and spices stimulate the gastric juices and help digestion.

Try its taste before you cook

Try this and see how flavorful Yorkshire Relish is. Pour a few drops into a teaspoon, then sip it. What flavor! Hot, yet sweet; no other sauce can impart such delicious flavor to your cooking.

Simple Tribute Is Paid to War Dead

More Than 5,000 Persons Face Inclement Weather to Attend Annual Service of Remembrance at Cenotaph

The eighteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice was observed here yesterday by a crowd of more than 5,000 persons who took part in simple services at the Cenotaph in Parliament Square, conducted by Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia.

Despite inclement weather the full service was carried through as the thousands stood bare-headed during the singing of hymns and the offering of prayers.

The service actually commenced with the tolling of "King George V," the tenor bell in Christ Church Cathedral, at 10.45 o'clock, which was followed with the firing of a gun by the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, at 11 o'clock, signifying the commencement of the period of two minutes' silence. A second gun signalled the end of the period.

The lament, "Flowers of the Forest," was played by Piper A. Pollock, of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, and was followed by the singing of the hymn "O Valiant Hearts."

Prayers were offered by Bishop Sexton, and were followed by the repeating of the Lord's Prayer, and the hymn, "Silent Tribute."

"Last Post" and "Reveille" were sounded by trumpeters of the 5th Brigade, followed by the singing of O Canada and God Save the King.

WREATHS PLACED

At the conclusion of the service wreaths were placed at the foot of the Cenotaph, at the four corners of which were posted three soldiers and a sailor with arms reversed, by Hon. Eric W. Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor; a representative of bereaved mothers, Rev. Father J. A. Gaudette, for the Bishop of Victoria; Bishop Sexton, Premier Pattullo, Acting Mayor James Adam, Brigadier D. J. MacDonald, G.O.C., M.D. No. 11; Commander C. T. Beard, S.N.O., Royal Canadian Naval Barracks; Lieut.-General Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., grand president of the Canadian Legion, the United States Consul and a representative of ex-servicemen's organizations.

For the first time a wreath was placed on the monument as an official token from the French Government. It was deposited by Major F. V. Longstaff, who acted for the French consul in western Canada.

As the parade moved away from the Cenotaph Lieut.-Governor Hamber took the salute from the various units represented, at a reviewing stand opposite the Empress Hotel. He was accompanied by his A.D.C., Brigadier J. S. Brown, Brigadier MacDonald, Sir Percy Lake, Premier Pattullo, Acting Mayor Adam, A. M. D. Fairbairn and naval and military officers.

The parade was led by the Canadian Legion Band and a large representation of ex-servicemen wearing medals. Other units taking part were a detachment of the Royal Canadian Navy, 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, Royal Canadian Engineers, Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish pipe band; composite company, permanent forces, Canadian Army Medical Corps, Rainbow Sea Cadets, Boy Scouts and a field ambulance.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Burns Great Humanitarian

"Robert Burns, the Humanitarian," was the subject of an address delivered by Duncan MacBride before a meeting of the Burns Club in the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening.

"The humanitarianism of Burns is what the world needs today," said Mr. MacBride. "The three cardinal points of his creed, purer religion, democracy based on liberty and justice and the universal brotherhood of man, are stronger requirements of mankind today that even before, and I earnestly plead that this Burns Club and all Burns Clubs, all social and fellowship organizations throughout the world, will preach, teach and work for these great ideals of Robert Burns."

Mr. MacBride said the qualities found in such generous measure in Burns entitled him in a very real sense to the definition of humanitarian. Burns was even a Socialist—in the sense of equal opportunity for all men, irrespective of class and the living of a useful and happy life, working for the common weal, the brotherhood of man.

Touching upon the Armistice, the speaker said there were more tyrants, oppressors and usurpers in greater power in the civilized world today than in Burns' time.

"Their power," he said, is conscripting the intellectual and material wealth of humanity into channels which divert it from the peaceful progress and orderly resolution of mankind to the deliberate preparation for ruthless slaughter and murder of not only soldiers, but the civil population of enemy countries."

"The Laird's Wooin," an original Scottish play in two acts by Louise R. MacBride, was presented by Alex McGown, J. J. Matheson, Louise MacBride, Elma Morbey and Jessie Robertson.

EMPIRE HONORS ITS WAR DEAD

King Leads Remembrance Day Rites at Cenotaph in London

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 12.—King Edward yesterday led the people of the empire in observance of Armistice Day. Thousands solemnly gathered about the Cenotaph in Whitehall and minds harked back eighteen years to the hour when the sound of the guns was stilled on the Great War battlefields.

When the hush fell on the great crowd the King's slight figure appeared to bear a certain aspect of loneliness. His Majesty, participating in the ceremony for the first time as sovereign, wore the undress service uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet. His father, the late King George, always wore a khaki service army uniform at the Armistice Day observance.

Leaving the palace by automobile, the King, accompanied by a naval equerry, Commander Lambe, was silently saluted by a great crowd lining the whole route to Whitehall. Many of them had waited for several hours.

FORCES REPRESENTED

Detachments from the army, the navy and the air force formed a square around the national memorial. On one side stood the scarlet-cloaked household cavalry. Next to them were the dark-coated, booted and spurred Royal Horse artillery. Behind the King and other members of the royal family a detachment of ex-servicemen made one side of the square.

Queen Mary witnessed the service from a window of the Home Office. She was dressed all in black. With her were Princess Mary, her daughter, and the Duchesses of York and Kent. The window was draped in blue and gold.

WREATH FROM CANADA

Arriving at ten minutes before 11 o'clock the King, for the first time as monarch, placed a wreath at the foot of the Cenotaph. Prime Minister Baldwin, standing at the end of a line of cabinet ministers, followed with a wreath. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Comissioner to Great Britain, was the first overseas representative to make a similar tribute.

Behind the King stood his brothers, the Duke of York and the Duke of Kent, both in naval uniform.

Prayers and a blessing by Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington Ingram, the Bishop of London, concluded the ceremony. The city of Westminster, the city of London and all the United Kingdom resumed their customary activity.

Governor-General and Premier King Attend Ceremonies in Ottawa

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—A thousand memorials to Canada's war dead were banked high with poppies and wreaths today after nation-wide observance of Remembrace Day—the eighteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

Throughout the Dominion yesterday Canadians gathered before cenotaphs and memorials and in churches to bow their heads in respectful two-minute silence as they paid their annual tribute to those who lost their lives in the war.

Schools and banks were closed and the throb of Canadian industry and business was hushed for two minutes at 11 o'clock as the working man paid his respects. Throughout British Columbia business houses were closed all day.

ON PARLIAMENT HILL

At Ottawa, a brief ceremony was held on Parliament Hill, attended by the Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, Prime Minister King and high government officials. This colorful ceremony, like all others, was marked by its simplicity.

Speaking at a Canadian Legion national memorial service yesterday evening, Prime Minister King declared if another war should come it would be "because individuals, in their combined national efforts and daily lives, have greatly failed," and not because governments had been unequal to their tasks.

"Upon our individual acts, thoughts and prayers depends the immediate not less than the future well-being of mankind," he said. "To save our day and generation the horrors of another world war individual and national effort must be combined in one great endeavor to preserve the blessings of peace."

IN EASTERN TOWNS

In scores of towns and hamlets in eastern Canada citizens remembered the soldier dead with similar ceremonies. In western Canada, special services in auditoriums supplemented the annual ceremonies at cenotaphs in many cities.

AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Nov. 12 (Canadian Press).—Some 6,000 Vancouver citizens, grouped around the Cenotaph in Victory Square, bared their heads in a drizzling rain yesterday as they observed two minutes of silence in honor of Canada's war dead.

Various military units and veterans' divisions gathered at their barracks at 10 a.m., and marched to the Square.

Brig.-Gen. J. A. Clark, C.M.G., D.S.O., led the non-religious service.

Mayor G. G. McGeer, M.P., acting in behalf of Lieutenant-Governor Eric Humber, laid the first wreath following the two minutes' silence, which was broken by "The Reveille," sounded by the B.C. Regiment buglers.

ST. MARK'S A.Y.P.A.

At an executive meeting of St. Mark's A.Y.P.A. held at the home of Miss Norah Cullen, it was decided to hold a Christmas dance on December 11. The regular meeting of the branch was held on Wednesday with the president in the chair. Rev. O. L. Jull gave an interesting talk on "Douglas Social Credit" after which refreshments were served. Members are reminded that Sunday, November 15, will be A.Y.P.A. corporate communion.

A card party was held at the home of Miss Peggy Fisher, 601 Ardersier Road, on Friday and the next will be held at the home of Miss May Clarke, 46 Sims Ave., on Thursday, November 19, at 8 p.m.

Churches Here Mark Armistice

Joint Service at Wilkinson Road; Programme at Salvation Army

Appropriate Remembrance Day services were held yesterday in Wilkinson Road United Church and the Salvation Army Citadel, where specially selected musical and vocal numbers were presented in keeping with the occasion.

At Wilkinson Road congregations of St. Michael's and St. Columbia's Anglican Churches and Wilkinson Road and Garden City United Churches joined together for the service. Rev. F. Comley, former rector of St. Michael's, gave the address, his text being "Be ye kind one to another, tender hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you."

Rev. William Allan sang "The Recessional" and the anthem, "What Are These That Are Arrayed in White Robes?" was sung by the combined choir of Wilkinson Road and Garden City, under the direction of J. Jones and D. Phillips.

Adjutant H. Martin acted as chairman at the Salvation Army service, and the following programme was presented: Candidate H. Wood, recitation, "An Incident of War"; Bandsman Slade, recitation, "The Wanderer"; Adjutant L. Ede, monologue, "Let There Be Peace"; Max Chalk and William Ratcliffe, instrumental duet, "In Shining Armor"; William Ratcliffe, cornet solo, "Hosannah"; G. Hayward, piano solo, "The Swedish March"; Mrs. Max Chalk, piano solo, "Paul and Silas, Bible Picture"; Max Chalk, vocal solo, "O Man of Galilee"; quartette, "Give Me Thy Heart."

The band number included "Fight For Your Lord," "To God Be All the Glory," "Keeping Step," "Deep Harmony," "The Fighting Spirit" and "The Glory Land." Adjutant Ede lead in prayer, Bandsman F. Watson gave the Bible reading and Capt. Battrick gave the doxology.

COBBLE HILL

Remembrance Day was observed by residents of Shawnigan Lake and Cobble Hill districts at the Cenotaph at Cobble Hill. Owing to the inclement weather service was conducted by the Rev. E. M. Willis and Rev. T. Menzies in the Community Hall. The hymns "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" and "Fight the Good Fight" were sung. At the conclusion of the service the congregation marched to the Cenotaph where the Malahat Board of Trade, Shawnigan Lake Athletic Association, Women's Catholic League, Canadian Legion, W.A. to the Legion, Foresters, W.I., Shawnigan and Cobble Hill; Girl Guides and Brownies, I.O.D.E. and Scouts and Cubs placed floral emblems on the Cenotaph.

Comrade T. Ward sounded "The Last Post" and "Retreat," and the ceremony concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

Ladysmith, Nov. 12.—Hundreds of citizens attended the impressive Remembrance Day service here, despite the grey skies and cold steady drizzle. The assembly at the Cenotaph was adjourned to the Rialto Theatre for the first part of the service, when following the singing of O Canada, Rev. C. McDiarmid gave a reading and prayer.

The hymn "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" was followed by an address by James S. Taylor.

T. Jones of Victoria, spoke on "Two Minutes' Silence" and led his listeners back to the dramatic morning eighteen years ago, when the "cease fire" order rang around the world.

After a final hymn, the meeting adjourned to the Cenotaph where the ex-servicemen, under the command of H. McAdam formed in a double rank as "The Last Post" was sounded. Rev. B. Eyton Spurling pronounced the Benediction.

Movie Lists As Guides to Parents

Toronto, Nov. 12. — O. J. Silverthorne, chairman of the Ontario Board of Motion Picture Censors, yesterday stated plans were under consideration for publication in the daily press of the province of a listing of pictures as a guide for parents. He said the proposed plans would be submitted to Premier Hepburn. At the same time Mr. Silverthorne said he was afraid members of the Legion of Decency, Roman Catholic organization concerned with clean motion pictures "miss seeing a lot of pictures and simply accept the ratings of various United States magazines."

BANKING SERVICE VITAL TO PUBLIC INTERESTS

President S. H. Logan Addresses the Annual Meeting of Canadian Bankers' Association

The Annual Meeting of The Canadian Bankers' Association was held in Toronto on November 12 when Mr. S. H. Logan, President, gave the following address:

General business in Canada during the past twelve months shows so substantial an advance that, despite serious set-backs in certain areas, the economic position of three-quarters of our population has improved. This improvement is reflected in higher earnings, or in fuller or more permanent employment. Recovery has been much more widespread than at any time since the low point of the depression in 1933, and had there not been this year a continuation in parts of our western Provinces of what some scientists regard as the worst series of droughts in the last two hundred years the economic and social gains would have been still more impressive.

Revival on National Lines

As the economic status of Canada is determined partly by conditions abroad, we should consider these. The Economic Intelligence Service of the League of Nations, has stressed the notable increase during the past five years in the influence of governmental policies upon economic activity. While in some countries individual and group initiative remains the principal factor in bringing about recovery, the scope of such initiative is being constantly narrowed. As a result, revival has proceeded more on national than international lines, and consequently the rate of progress varies greatly between one area and another. The extent to which increased industrial activity and re-employment rests in some countries in the main on huge rearmament programmes must cause anxiety, both as to its maintenance over a long term and as to the political stresses which such a policy tends to develop. However, this authority goes on to say that, "as production increased and unemployment declined in such great industrial countries as Belgium, Germany, Italy, Japan, the United States and the United Kingdom, the increased demand for raw materials, and to a less extent for foodstuffs, led to higher prices, and therefore to greater receipts, not only in the agricultural exporting countries of Asia, South America, Europe and the British Empire, but also in the mineral exporting colonies. The impetus to increased production came from different sets of causes in the industrial countries. The stoppage of deflation and the beginnings of expansion in some was accompanied by external currency depreciation. In others it took place behind the shelter of exchange controls. The influence of government expenditures was a powerful factor in some; but in others increased production rested largely on private enterprise.

"Whatever the combination of causes in each particular case, the recovery of industrial demand led to increased demands for raw materials and therefore to an improvement in international trade, from which the agricultural, exporting and mineral exporting countries benefited directly. As the prices of raw materials and most foodstuffs rose again sharply in late 1935 and early 1936, the national income of these countries was further improved. As it improves, their purchases of manufactured imports increase. The first factor to be stressed, therefore, is the spread of recovery due to increased economic activity in the industrial countries. Though other elements enter into the situation, much of this improvement is of a normal cyclical character." I might add to this survey that world production of most classes of materials is now close to the level of 1929, although there have been regional shifts since that year, influenced by policies aimed at further industrialization in agricultural countries, at agricultural self-sufficiency in industrial countries, at State control of business and at unemployment relief through public works and rearmament programmes. It is important, nevertheless, to note that Canada is among those countries whose increased production and accompanying social gains have rested largely on private enterprise.

Banking Service Vital

No survey of Canadian conditions would be complete without an examination of banking developments, since banking service is of vital concern to the public.

Total deposits increased in the twelve months ending 30th September by $167,000,000, notice deposits, mainly public savings, alone rising by $57,000,000. The aggregate of bank deposits in Canada was $2,263,000,000, the property of nearly five million people gained as a result of their productive efforts and their contributions by way of services. This great sum, together with $116,000,000 in chartered bank note circulation, constituted the bulk of the nation's ready money, and it is interesting to note that this total was greater than that available at any time since the end of 1930 and, in fact, exceeded the supply during any period prior to October, 1927. It should therefore be clear that prosperity has not lagged for any lack of funds. What has been needed is a greater circulation of the available supply of money, a condition possible only as prices and the various forms of production reach a greater degree of balance, accompanied by full employment. Confidence in the good faith of one's fellow citizens is a further necessity for the fuller development of the prosperity which should be ours. Every step taken to evade contractual obligations by those who are in a position to meet them, but find the conditions inconvenient or onerous, shakes confidence and delays recovery. The blow to confidence is by far the greater when the evasion is the result of direct action by a government which reaches and enforces arbitrary decisions affecting the welfare of great numbers of our citizens.

Employing Depositors' Funds

One important banking factor is the use that the banks have made of their depositors' funds. During the year ending September, security holdings, many Dominion, provincial and municipal bonds, increased by $276,000,000 to a total of $1,379,000,000. Call loans, resting upon negotiable securities, rose by $30,00,000 to a total of $165,000,000. Advances to governments and school districts declined from $126,000,000 to $119,000,000. Commercial loans and discounts, mainly representing the production and distribution of goods and made available to about four hundred thousand borrowers, fell from $1,001,000,000 to $857,000,000. The developments in bank commercial credit are not, however, clearly portrayed by a comparison of these figures, for the decline is accounted for by partial liquidation of a few large special loans, notably those for carrying wheat which has been absorbed by the increased export movement of this product, and those retired from the proceeds of bond issues floated by certain borrowers. Bankers hope that the upturn in total commercial loans since July, one of $47,000,000, marks a turn in the tide which will continue, as we shall be better satisfied when the business community makes greater use of the available bank credit facilities. The aggregate of security holdings and loans, which represents the extension of bank credit in this country, increased in the year under review by $131,500,000, and at the end of September was at an all-time peak.

Financing Foreign Trade

There is another department of banking service that warrants comment. It is that through which the greater part of the country's foreign trade is financed in the form of bills, credits and exchange sales and purchases representing exports and imports. Some of these transactions appear in the Bank Statement published by the Dominion Government under the heading, "Letters of Credit Established" amounting on 30th September to $64,000,000, but the full amount of bank financing of this kind approximated the total value of foreign trade, about $1,500,000,000. Exports in the past year rose by $169,000,000 to the highest level since 1930, and increased in volume by about 20 per cent. Imports increased by $59,000,000 in value, and by about 10 per cent in volume. The difference between exports and imports was $361,000,000, this favorable trade balance being exceeded in the history of Canada in only four similar twelve-month periods, those ending in 1926, 1925, 1918 and 1917.

General Business Record.

Indeed, we can safely regard the marked expansion in export trade as the most influential factor in raising the level of general business activity by about 10 per cent., and thereby improving the position of most of our people. The forest industries were in the vanguard of this movement and increased their production by about 15 per cent., that of newsprint soaring to a record height and close to the practical limit of capacity. This is a stage which justifies a price for the product at least commensurate with operating and overhead charges, plus a reasonable scale of profits as compensation for the heavy depletion in our forest wealth which has followed such intensive activity in this particular industry. There is probably no more impressive record in Canadian economic annals than that in lumbering. During the past year the industry in British Columbia, the most important area, was stimulated to the greatest activity since 1929 by a foreign demand more than one-third greater than in the preceding year. Exports to overseas countries reached record proportions, while at the same time the American market was reopened by a reduction in the high duties imposed on Canadian lumber in 1930 and 1932. Perhaps more specific data should be mentioned to emphasize the remarkable enterprise of our lumber industry. About four years ago the production of all Canadian lumber was 30 per cent. of normal, and the industry, having practically lost its large American market as a result of prohibitive tariff and being without other extensive connections to offset this blow, faced an even worse future. In fact, the log scale in British Columbia, a good guide to saw-mill operations, fell early in 1933 to about 10 per cent. of 1929. Within a few months, however, new markets were developed overseas, which have been cultivated so effectively as to establish Canadian wood firmly in Great Britain, the Orient, Australasia, the West Indies and South Africa, and to aid in raising the national lumber cut to 85 per cent. of normal.

Public Benefits of Mining.

Canadian mining, now recognized as one of the largest, most varied and efficient of the world's mineral industries, has continued on the strongly progressive course it set for itself long ago. In fact, it seems impossible to over-stress the importance which mining has assumed in the economic position of Canada. In the acute depression, from 1929 to 1933, when other Canadian exportable products were finding such restricted markets as to threaten our external credit, gold from our mines was available to help meet the country's foreign debt payment and to finance necessary imports, without which the standard of living would have declined more than it did. In the last seven years nearly $600,000,000 of our gold has so been used to protect the interests of Canadian people. The other major metallic units also lent considerable support to our economic system, for most of them remained on a comparatively high production basis when mines elsewhere were forced to a low scale of operations or to a complete shut-down. Yet in the past year mining progress in Canada has been more widespread than formerly, for not only have many new gold properties reached the stage of steady and large production, but there has been marked recovery in coal and asbestos mining, which once were severely depressed, while the productive capacity of copper has increased, as also has that of nickel, one of Canada's greatest contributions to the leading metal products of the world.

Record Mineral Production.

With this advance over practically the entire mineral area, the value of all mining production for 1936 should be about $350,000,000, which would exceed that of 1935 by nearly $40,000,000 and surpass by nearly the same amount the previous highest value, that of 1929, when, however, better prices for base metals prevailed. The real significance of this estimated value for 1936 is that nearly $1,000,000 per day will have been contributed to the national income as this new mineral wealth is dispersed for mining wages, foods, clothing, equipment and materials, or in taxes and dividends. Moreover, the industry has produced in the past ten years minerals valued at $2,694,000,000, a very material contribution to the prosperity and welfare of this country.

In a year of some unusual hazards the sea fisheries have been more successful than in 1935, for the landed value of their catches is tentatively estimated to have increased by 10 per cent.

Growth in Tourist Trade

The tourist trade of 1936 will probably be recorded as the largest since 1929. Apart from lumbering and newsprint, which have already been mentioned, industrial activity has also increased. The so-called heavy industries (those producing machinery and other equipment) and a large group engaged in miscellaneous articles have forged ahead so rapidly as to more than counterbalance a hesitant tone in a few other important units. Thus, while the automobile and agricultural implement plants worked for a time at a slower pace than in the like period of last year, with correspondingly lessened requirements for materials such as steel, the cumulative production of steel from January to September of 1936 was 25 per cent higher than in the first nine months of 1935.

Some Unfavorable Features

All the foregoing favorable features do not of course mask the unfavorable, of which a most outstanding one is a national crop out-turn about 20 per cent below the average. Moreover, the volume of new construction work this year has been disappointing, although private building has revived to some extent, and should be further stimulated by the measures just designed by the Dominion Government in co-operation with the banks to make financing for house repair and renovation both cheap and convenient, measures which we bankers will earnestly endeavor to make successful. In the important field of public finance there has not been as much progress toward budgetary balance as is desirable, the chief problem being unemployment relief, but most governmental authorities are taking a more realistic view of their problems, and where business improvement has occurred tax collections have increased and the burdens of unemployment relief have been eased. The transportation systems have, because of severe drought, again been denied the benefits of a normal grain crop movement, but have enjoyed a slight improvement in net earnings.

Most Serious Factor

The most disturbing situation in Canada today is in Alberta, where general legislation has been enacted for the advantage of the debtor at the expense of the creditor without regard to the debtor's capacity or willingness to pay. The Legislature has not only authorized the government to default upon its obligations by a forced reduction in the rate of interest on its bonds, but has reduced the principal and interest on private debt generally. Alberta bonds and mortgages are held not only by individuals and foreign investors, but also in provincial and municipal superannuation funds and sinking funds. Alberta bonds and mortgages are also held by pension, benefit and church funds, insurance, mortgage, loan and trust companies and thousands of individuals, many resident in Alberta, who have interests small or large in any of the above organizations are thus victims of such legislation.

A bank depositor, an insurance policy holder or a beneficiary whose funds have been invested by a trust company, in discussing debt adjustment in Alberta with a debtor, would probably in many cases sympathize with the latter, but he would view the situation in an entirely different light if it were brought home to him that the underlying security of his life insurance policy, deposit or estate was being undermined to the extent of the relief given the debtor, and that in reality these legislative concessions are at his own expense, for inevitably, when anyone is relieved of a legitimate debt someone else must pay. Everyone appreciates the plight of the honest debtors who have struggled to pay, but by misfortune are unable to do so, yet those are cases which should be dealt with individually. Sweeping confiscatory legislation by any government at the expense of thousands of individual creditors in every walk of life is an extremely serious development, which is not in accordance with recognized ideas of British justice.

International Finance

The long struggle in France to continue an effective gold standard on the basis of the "Poincare franc" finally came to an end in September last. The attempt of the various French governments preceding that of Premier Blum to adjust the difficult economic situation of that country through internal deflation, rather than through devaluation of the monetary unit, had met with indifferent success and it had become clear that the social measures adopted by the Blum Government, tending as they did to raise internal costs and prices, made any further attempt in that direction quite futile. The drain on the gold holdings of the Banque de France continued in such volume that the Blum Government finally was forced to reverse its previous policy and forbid the exportation of gold. This step was followed almost immediately by Switzerland and Holland. The announcement that the French decision was made after consultation with the Governments did much to minimize the disturbance which an event of such importance was bound to have on world markets. The franc has not yet been definitely revalued. The Government has been given power to fix the gold content of the new franc between 43 and 49 milligrammes as against 65½ milligrammes in the "Poincare franc."

French Exchange Stabilization

A part of the book profit on the revaluation of the French gold holdings has been set aside to constitute an Exchange Stabilization Fund and it has been announced that this Fund will be operated by the French Government in close co-operation with the similar Funds which already existed in the United States and Britain. The three Governments in question have subsequently agreed to permit the sale of gold to and by these Funds at prices to be mutually agreed upon in each case.

This change in policy of the "gold bloc" countries marks the third important stage in the process of currency revaluation which began with the departure of Britain from the gold standard in 1931 and the change in the gold content of the United States dollar in 1933, and in a sense validates the existing sterling and dollar devaluation.

It is too early to forecast the results which are likely to follow these recent developments. Only the general outline of the agreements reached by the Governments of Britain, the United States and France has been made public, the details being kept secret as a matter of policy. It would appear that it can be abrogated at twenty-four hours' notice by any of the parties concerned. It is encouraging, however, that an agreement should have been reached at all, and it is reasonable to infer that the Governments of the three countries in question realize the danger and the futility of continued competitive devaluation of their relative currencies.

"Sterling Is Still Free"

The agreement should not be interpreted as laying the foundations of a new international gold standard, on a fixed basis. The British Government has stated that "sterling is still free," and President Roosevelt is reported to have announced that he intends to ask Congress to extend his discretionary authority to devalue the dollar still further. It seems that exchange values are considered as subordinate to the requirements of domestic economy, or in other words, that a stable internal price level is thought more important than a stable exchange level. Unless the price levels in the various countries remain the same or tend to move in the same direction, the present ratio of the pound, dollar and franc cannot therefore be a fixed one, and apparently all that the agreement contemplates is a mutual co-operation to keep the various currencies in some kind of "alignment." As regards the absolute stabilization of the currency of any country in the terms of any other country, it has long been recognized by the authorities in charge of the British Equalization Fund that all that any such Fund can hope to accomplish is to avoid excessive temporary fluctuations caused by seasonal speculative and other short-lived factors and that it is futile to try to combat any major change consequent upon permanently altered conditions. In spite of all this, however, the agreement constitutes a step in the right direction and should eliminate the more violent and temporary fluctuations in the exchange rates of the three countries concerned and, indirectly, between the exchanges of countries which are not direct parties to the agreement. It may confidently be expected that this in turn will stimulate international trade.

Obstacles to Full Recovery

It should not be overlooked, however, that greater stability in the exchanges constitutes only one factor in the situation. Many obstacles to a real revival of international trade still remain in the form of high tariffs, exchange restrictions and quotas. These are not easily abolished for the reason that once instituted there grow up behind such barriers trades and industries which would be damaged, if not ruined, by their removal. There are signs that a psychological reaction is growing in many parts of the world against excessive nationalism and the doctrine of self-sufficiency so generally adopted in recent years, but this feeling can hardly be expected to develop rapidly in the atmosphere of suspicion created by the armament race now taking place in so many countries in Europe and Asia.

Canada's Prospects

We in Canada should naturally benefit from whatever improvement in world trade is implicit in the new situation created by the recent exchange agreement. Our domestic as well as our foreign trade is growing, and there is nothing to warrant the belief that we shall encounter any great difficulty in maintaining either the internal price level or the international value of our currency. This presupposes that some way will be found to end the danger always inherent in recurring unbalanced government budgets and, further, that no more steps are taken along the perilous path of repudiation of contractual obligations. Without confidence neither international capital nor international trade can be expected to flow freely.

In conclusion, it is clear that the majority of our people are no longer in an economic wilderness. Their own enterprise and the improved conditions abroad have lifted them out of the greatest depression within living memory, a depression which throughout practically its entire course was especially aggravated in Canada by low agricultural prices, due to world influences, and by recurring crop damage. These misfortunes caused progressively increasing hardship in the western grain belt, once one of the most flourishing sections of the national domain and one which we know, given resonable weather conditions, still has great recuperative powers.

Prosperity Depends on Exports

Let it be emphasized here that it is largely the export markets that dictate the prosperity of this country, as the commodities we have to sell, such as wheat, fruit, fish, lumber, newsprint, metals and certain manufactures find their principal markets abroad. It is apparent that if the world markets for our major exportable products continue to strengthen and our productive efforts are not limited by unnatural crop-growing conditions, we should witness in the future even greater improvement than in the past twelve months. In that fortunate event, large-scale unemployment and public relief may be things of the past and the lives of many more of our people will be brightened.

Defence Leads From Ace

Play Eliminates Apparent Club Loser, But Sets Up Barrier Against Declarer's Slam Contract

By WM. E. McKENNEY

When you're playing a contract of six spades, and an opponent deliberately leads away from the ace, giving you a trick with the king, it would appear that you have reason to be thankful.

That's what E. M. Cheronnet of New York thought, when in a recent duplicate game at the Knickerbocker Whist Club just that thing happened to him.

His appreciation of the kindness of his opponent did not last long, however, when he found that he would have been much happier had the pesky ace been cashed. The gift horse, or rather gift trick, was not such a prize, after all.

SOLUTION TO PREVIOUS CONTRACT PROBLEM

Of course, South was much surprised when the club queen held the first trick, and West, who had hoped to see something like king and jack of clubs in the dummy, regretted that he had apparently given up a trick.

South, however, still had plenty to do. He led the king of spades, then the ten, which East covered. When West failed to follow suit, Cheronnet saw that apparently he had to lose a trump trick.

He cashed the ace and king of diamonds, then ruffed a diamond, and now took the finesse of the heart jack. When this held, he led dummy's last diamond and ruffed, reducing his trumps to two.

Now a heart was led to the king and a low heart returned. East refused to trump.

South now felt safe. He took the ace and led his last heart, which West won. But South took the last two tricks and fulfilled his contract.

New Prison Bars Resist Tools

Washington, Nov. 12.—Newest aid of science in combating crime is the magnetic apparatus developed at the National Bureau of Standards here to test the properties of tool-resisting prison bars. The device was developed by R. L. Sanford, senior physicist at the bureau, at the request of the Bureau of Prisons and the Department of Justice.

At the meeting of the Philosophical Society of Washington tonight, Mr. Sanford showed how a non-destructive test on prison bars had been achieved with his alternating current, magnetic comparator. Usefulness of the device will be to test new bars purchased by the federal government for prisons.

Prison bars, disclosed Mr. Sanford, are really two bars blended into a solid whole. Outside is softer ordinary steel which can be cut with a hacksaw. But within are inserts of hardened steel that cannot be cut by any tool which a prisoner is likely to obtain.

This dual type of construction of bars is necessary because the inner, very hard, steel is brittle and if used alone might be shattered by a sharp blow in quite the same way that one may break the blade of a knife if it is used as a screwdriver.

In the prison bars the outer, softer material absorbs the shock of a blow and protects the inner, hard material from fracture. Moreover, the outer steel is an excellent heat conductor and prevents the prisoner from heating the inner steel if he employs a home-made blowtorch consisting of a candle and a soda straw.

The prison bars are tested in a balanced electrical circuit which can be thought of roughly as an electrical scale in which the magnetic properties of a standard and test sample of steel are compared.

Primary premise behind the device, stated Mr. Sanford, is that two steel bars which are alike chemically and structurally will be alike, also, in magnetic properties. And that it is impossible to do anything to a piece of steel which will change its strength without, at the same time, altering its magnetic properties. Thus, if one finds that the magnetic properties of the sample correspond to those of a known, approved standard the two are otherwise alike also.

Is "Gasomat" To Be Used?

Washington, Nov. 12. — A remote control fuel pump patent (No. 2,051,597) which would make the gasoline service station of the future approach the present-day "automat" has just been granted here to J. E. Head of El Dorado, Ark.

All the machinery for supplying gasoline is controlled from a central cashier's booth. Here is how it operates:

You drive up to vacant pump and stick the hose nozzle in the tank of your car. Then you walk over to the cashier and pay him for the amount of gasoline you wish. While you are walking back he sets your pump for the paid amount of gasoline and the pump automatically measures it out. You merely open the valve in the hose nozzle and let the gasoline drain into your tank.

WARNING WHISTLE

Washington, Nov. 12.—It may not be news to rural dwellers, but railroad engineers are calling public attention to the warning signal of a train approaching a highway crossing.

Many city motorists, it seems, do not recognize the two long and two short whistle blasts that spell danger in railroad language all over the country. At a crossing around a blind corner, and in stormy or dark conditions, the whistle often warns motorists before they come in sight of the track they are to cross.

Soviet Geologists Find New Deposits

Moscow, Nov. 12.—More than 800 geological parties have been in the field exploring Soviet Russia's mineral resources and crustal structure this year. Half of them mapped the layers of the earth, while eighty were engaged in exploration. Other parties surveyed deposits already discovered.

Discovery of large deposits of high-grade borates in the Lake Inder district is expected to free the Soviet Union from dependence in this respect upon foreign countries. New deposits of coal, lead and zinc ores, rare metal ores and bromine-containing salt were also reported.

Polio Outbreak Causes No Alarm

Washington, Nov. 12.—Officials of the United States Public Health Service here are not alarmed over reports of an infantile paralysis outbreak in Oklahoma. The cold weather to be expected at this season of the year, they believe, will probably check the outbreak before it gets very far. Previous history of infantile paralysis shows that even large outbreaks have died down with the advent of cold weather in the late fall.

The picric acid-alum nasal spray preventive will probably not be used in the Oklahoma outbreak, Dr. Charles Armstrong of the federal health service's National Institute of Health said. Dr. Armstrong developed the spray which was widely used in an outbreak in southern states this summer. It takes about two weeks for the spray to have an effect in checking an epidemic. Dr. Armstrong explained, and by that time he believes cold weather will have put an end to the present outbreak. He is therefore not advising its use.

Gelatine Detected

Davis, Calif.—Gelatine added to cottage cheese, cream and other dairy products to make them look thicker and richer can now be detected with ease and certainty, so dairy scientists at Davis report.

The new method, devised at the University of California College of Agriculture, is applicable to all dairy products. Heretofore only raw sweet milk and raw sweet cream could be adequately tested for gelatine. Trichloracetic acid is used in the new test.

Hollywood Story —In Real Life

A sheaf of gold mine stock, long believed worthless, boomeranged into a $1,600,000 inheritance for Robert Cummings, above, a struggling young Hollywood actor who not so long ago had a role in a film titled "Millions in the Air." The stock, bought by Cummings's father, now dead, became valuable when the mine, at Goldfield, Nev., yielded a rich strike. Cummings, who shares the fortune with his mother, expects to continue his movie career.

British Columbia Association Opens Annual Convention Here With Declaration in Favor of Plan; Venereal and Mental Diseases Discussed

With a strong declaration in favor of the provincial government's health insurance scheme, the British Columbia Hospitals Association yesterday opened its nineteenth annual convention in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel. The sessions are continuing today and tomorrow.

Seventy-five delegates from all parts of the province, with only a few Victorians among them, are taking part in the sessions. Among points represented are Prince Rupert, Powell River, Nelson and Mission.

The full support of the association for the health insurance experiment was pledged by E. W. Neel, Duncan, president, in his opening address at the morning session.

WORLD WATCHES B.C.

"The eyes not only of Canada but the whole world are on British Columbia to see how this experiment will work out," he said, and then, turning to Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and honorary president of the association, he added that the members would do all in their power to help further the plan, in whose principles they believed.

Mr. Neel spoke of a misconception in a recent radio news report from Vancouver, and stressed that the employee would only be called on for a 2 per cent contribution.

The president spoke of the wonderful work of the Canadian Medical Association, and urged members to continue their affiliation with it.

Delegates were welcomed on behalf of the city of Victoria by acting Mayor James Adam, and on behalf of the provincial government by Hon George M. Weir.

The business of the convention got under way in the afternoon with two major lectures, each followed by a period of discussion.

VENEREAL DISEASES

The effect on the happiness of humanity of the great incidence of venereal diseases was shown by Dr. S. C. Peterson, director of venereal disease control of the Provincial Department of Health, who outlined the provincial government's programme of treatment in this matter.

In spite of the great extent of the diseases and the difficulties which arose through the fact that press, pulpit and radio were closed to discussion of the subject, there was a hopeful aspect to the problem in the fact that the most prevalent form responded readily to treatment, he said.

In this connection, Dr. Peterson told of the results achieved in Scandinavian countries, notably in Denmark, where syphilis was practically eliminated, and also in Britain.

The programme proposed by the provincial government for the control and treatment of these diseases was the outcome of a recent conference in Vancouver. Plans had been made at that time for the organization and staffing of clinics which would also serve as teaching centres.

The success of the work depended on the immediate reporting of all cases and the full co-operation of the public and the medical profession with proper publicity.

MENTAL DISEASES

"Progress in the Treatment of Mental Diseases" was the subject of an address by Arthur L. Crease, M.D., general superintendent of mental hospitals and provincial psychiatrist.

Saying "the echo of the wants of the body cell is the dawn of psychology," Dr. Crease traced the course of cell growth, reproduction and functions.

He then explained how cell needs affected the nervous system, giving birth to the instincts.

Next Dr. Crease discussed the manner in which man handled his instincts, and the various phychological twists of mind which were induced in the process, and after them the various delusions which were further twists of psychology.

SEEK DUTY CUT

The association will support other hospital groups in asking for the removal of the 10 per cent duty on X-ray equipment imported into Canada from the United States, it resolved at the afternoon session.

Members also decided to ask the Canadian Hospitals Council whether it deemed it advisable to seek from the Tariff Board cancellation of duties on physio-therapy parts and surgical instruments for use in hospitals.

Mrs. C. A. Barber Is Laid to Rest

Canadian Press

Chilliwack, B.C., Nov. 12.—Tribute to an outstanding Canadia newspaper woman was paid by hundreds of friends, fellow journalists and citizens yesterday at the funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Barber here.

Mrs. Barber, wife of Charles A. Barber, publisher of the Chilliwack Progress, died at Vancouver Sunday.

A public service in Chilliwack United Church, conducted by Rev. William A. Guy, was preceded by a private service at the family residence at Sardis, B.C.

Representatives of Vancouver daily newspapers, the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, the Canadian Women's Press Club, the British Columbia Institute of Journalists, the press departments of the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Press were in attendance.

Mrs. H. Houdini Gives Challenge

Associated Press

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Harry Houdini, widow of the world-famed magician, today was "firmly convinced that communication with the dead is a human impossibility" and challenged "any medium who proclaims tangible proof."

On Hallowe'en Mrs. Houdini conducted at Hollywood her final unsuccessful attempt to communicate with the spirit of her husband, who died ten years ago.

She told of trying constantly throughout the ten years to communicate with Houdini and said that "as fantastic as it sounds, in the beginning I did believe there was a means of communicating with my husband along the lines of spiritualism. We formed a pact during the early part of our married life toward this end."

ST. AIDAN'S TILLICUMS

St. Aidan's Tillicum Club met on Monday evening for its weekly meeting, with Miss Barbara Dawson in the chair. The meeting opened with a sing-song with Mrs. Griffiths at the piano.

The devotional period was given by Ken Jennings, who chose as his theme, "Peace." Miss Ivy Salter read the scripture and Miss Barbara Dawson led in prayer.

The guest speaker of the evening was Miss Bertha Jenkins, R.N., who gave a most interesting talk on her hobby, "Photography." She illustrated her talk with some pictures she had taken.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Next week's meeting will be held in conjunction with the church board's anniversary promotion.

creased industrial production in the major countries.

Favorable features, however, along with an unprecedented total volume of credit advanced by banks in the form of purchase of securities and various types of loans did not mask the unfavorable, he said. Outstanding among these was a national crop out-turn about 20 per cent below the average.

CREDIT TOTAL

Total volume of credit advanced by the banks in the form of purchases of securities and various types of loans reached an all-time peak through an increase of $131,000,000 in the twelve months ended September 30, he reported.

Total deposits with the banks increased by $167,000,000, notice deposits, mainly public savings, alone rising by $57,000,000. The aggregate of bank deposits in Canada was $2,263,000,000, the property of nearly 5,000,000 people.

That sum, together with $116,000,000 in chartered bank note circulation, constitute the bulk of the nation's ready money. Mr. Logan said the total was greater than available at any time since the end of 1930 and exceeded the supply during any period prior to October, 1927.

GROWTH OF EXPORTS

Exports in the past year rose by $169,000,000 to the highest level since 1930, he said. Imports increased $59,000,000.

The favorable trade balance of $361,000,000—the difference between exports and imports—was exceeded in Canadian history in only four similar twelve-month periods, those ending in 1926, 1925, 1915 and 1917, Mr. Logan asserted.

Mr. Logan predicted value of mining production this year would be about $350,000,000, an increase of $40,000,000 over 1935.

Among disappointing factors he listed a lagging volume of new construction work and budgetary balance which did not make as much progress as desirable.

ALBERTA LEGISLATION

"The most disturbing situation in Canada today," he said, "is in Alberta, where general legislation has been enacted for the advantage of the debtor at the expense of the creditor without regard to the debtor's capacity or willingness to pay. The Legislature has not only authorized the government to default on its obligations by a forced reduction in the rate of interest on its bonds, but has reduced the principle and interest on private debt generally.

"A bank depositor, an insurance policy holder or a beneficiary whose funds have been invested by a trust company, in discussing debt adjustment in Alberta with a debtor, would probably in many cases sympathize with the latter, but he would view the situation in an entirely different light if it were brought home to him that the underlying security of his life insurance policy, deposit or estate was being undermined to the extent of the relief given the debtor, and that in reality these legislative concessions are at his own expense, for inevitably when anyone is relieved of a legitimate debt someone else must pay."

TRADE INCREASING

Washington, Nov. 12 (Canadian Press). — United States trade with Canada increased sharply during the first nine months of 1936 compared with the corresponding period of 1935, official figures issued by the Commerce Department showed today.

For the period ended September 30 exports to Canada totaled $277,035,000, compared with $243,546,000. Imports from Canada were $259,934,000, against $203,396,000.

The imports were far greater than the United States took from any other country, the United Kingdom being second with $139,168,000. Of United States exports the United Kingdom took the greatest amount, $295,978,000, with Canada second.

The department also issued September figures showing the United States took from Canada $34,998,000 worth of goods during that month, compared with $25,972,000 in September, 1935. Exports to Canada were $31,498,000, against $27,362,000.

Madrid Troops Have Success In Surprise Sortie

broke the sudden silence when the big guns ceased.

The bitter struggle for the easiest road into the capital was rapidly approaching a climax.

The rain and the low ceiling kept war planes out of action, but the rival guns kept pounding positions spotted by lightning flashes during the night. Several fires, set off by the artillery bombardment in the city, were put out by the rain.

GOVERNMENT REINFORCEMENTS

The clatter of horses' hoofs and the tramp of thousands of feet gave evidence the government was pouring reinforcements into strategic points as rapidly as possible.

Among many unconfirmed reports was one that 1,000 insurgents had been trapped in Casa del Campo. Official sources did not bear out the report. A close observation of the sector, moreover, showed heavy fighting in progress, with no indication the insurgents' rear lines had been cut.

FOREIGNERS FIGHT

The defence council, however, took heart as successive enemy thrusts failed to open a way across the Manzanares. Officials also were pleased with the account which a column of 1,000 volunteer anti-Fascists from several foreign nations gave of themselves in a night of desperate fighting.

Pressure of government troops attempting to flank the insurgents from the southeast is increasing, defence leaders said, creating a precarious situation for the attackers.

PROTECTION PROMISED

An announcement from Charge d'Affaires Pichado of Cuba said the Latin diplomatic corps had decided to remain in Madrid regardless of what happened. The government, Pichado added, had advised the general diplomatic corps that every effort would be made to guarantee the protection of foreigners.

SURPRISE ATTACK

Fascist commanders halted a surprise attack in the northwest sector as the drive encountered strong resistance from an international legion blocking the way through the northern University City. The onslaught started shortly before midnight, but died down a few hours later.

Government gunners labored to return the witherng Fascist artillery fire. Shells from the guns streaked across the night sky while red glares from unceasing fires illuminated the Rosales district north of the northern railroad station.

(At Salamanca, official headquarters of the Fascist provisional government, the high command asserted the blazes were the "work of anarchist hordes." "Such excesses in zones not under fire of our cannon make it impossible to take the capital with the least possible damage as we wish," an official communique declared. Government counter-attacks in battle zones along Madrid's city limits were "easily repulsed," the communique added).

FIRE IN OPERA HOUSE

New fires broke out in the area under heaviest insurgent shelling between the Puerta del Rey (King's Bride) and Puerta de Segovia (Segovia Bridge) on the west side of the city near the government buildings.

Smoke curled from the opera house and an evacuated munition factory near the Segovia span. Observers at vantage points farther east in the city were not able to determine whether the national palace or ministry buildings had been hit.

An insurgent ammunition dump near Carabanchel Bajo, a suburb, was touched off by a government shell.

In the heart of Madrid, Socialist reinforcements were lined up along the Gran Via, one of the principal business thoroughfares. Two new battalions arrived to replenish the International Legion of experienced Polish, Italian, German and French volunteers.

Complete absence of Fascist bombing planes, which have made repeated raids on the capital, caused conjecture in the Socialist defence council.

Some military experts expressed the opinion the planes might have been shifted to attacks on government troops en route to Madrid from Albacete. These forces were reported engaged in assaults on rebel columns near Anajuez, strategic railway centre east of Toledo.

NEW MEASURES

Gen. Miaja and Minister of Health Federica Montseny discussed new plans for the capital's defence.

Foreign ambassadors and ministers still remaining in Madrid offered to aid the council, within the limits of diplomatic license, in caring for the sick and wounded. The principal aid, it was understood, would be to relieve the civil population suffering from the effects of the war.

President Manuel Azana, who left Madrid for Barcelona last month, was reported en route to Valencia, where additional recruits for the Soicalist army were being enrolled.

President Azana was expected to supervise sessions of the cabinet which established itself in the eastern seaport city last Saturday.

Recruiting activities were being undertaken under the auspices of the General Labor Union which ordered its members to appear for duty at the rate of 1,000 daily.

HEAVY ARTILLERY FIRE

London, Nov. 12 (Canadian Press). The British government was advised today that University City, Madrid, is under heavy insurgent fire.

The battle for possession of Madrid is still raging, with the tide ebbing and flowing. On the southwest side the Spanish government military continued to hold the bridges over the Manzanaries River despite desperate assaults. They have even succeeded in driving the insurgents back a certain distance.

The insurgents now are concentrating their attack to the north and west sides of Madrid. It is here that University City is situated.

ployers declared twenty-two ships cleared yesterday.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Expansion of its investigation into maritime labor conditions on the west coast to include the east and Gulf of Mexico coasts was ordered today by the Maritime Commission.

Rear-Admiral H. A. Wiley, commission chairman, said Rear-Admiral Harry G. Hamlet, who has been directing the Pacific Coast inquiry, would start back to Washington Sunday from San Francisco, leaving federal participation in strike negotiations to labor department representatives.

Wiley cited the new ship subsidy law's mandate to the commission to lay down wage and personnel requirements and prescribe working conditions aboard all United States ships, and said Hamlet was returning to Washington to talk over the possibility of co-ordinating into one broad investigation inquiries into ship labor conditions on three coasts.

FULL INFORMATION

The maritime body desired to have all information on all United States ships, officials said, before prescribing labor regulations.

After a talk with the commission, it was said, Hamlet will go to any point where his services would be most effective, possibly even returning to the Pacific Coast.

The commission, after failing in an effort to obtain extension of a temporary working agreement between ship owners and labor representatives, has confined its activities on the Pacific Coast dargely to gathering data for use in formulating the labor standards later.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

ROUSED followers of the Chicago Cubs fear that scout Clarence Rowland will trade Frank Demaree next.

Following the disposal of Lon Warneke, Gabby Hartnett figured to be next in line. Hartnett has been far and away the most popular Bruin of the last fifteen years, but the burly catcher won a reprieve when he carried his case to young Philip K. Wrigley.

With Hartnett made safe for Wrigley Field, Demaree would be the next most eligible candidate for a Cub swap; that is, basing these transactions on the Warneke deal. Demaree has been the best day-in and day-out ball player on the Chicago roster for the last two campaigns.

The amusing part of the Warneke barter, in which the great pitcher went to the St. Louis Cardinals for Jimmy Collins and LeRoy Parmelee, was the announcement that scout Pants Rowland made it. Perhaps Owner Wrigley was afraid the persuasive and hard-driving Branch Rickey of the Red Birds would trade Manager Charley Grimm out of the North Side park.

Rickey scarcely could have traded Grimm out of anything more than Warneke, however, so maybe the old umpire and Chicago White Sox manager broke into the picture only because none of the officials cared to take the blame for railroading the famous right-hander.

Everybody but Wrigley, Rowland, and Grimm considered the likable Warneke a fixture in Chicago. To say that his being shipped down the river was shocking is putting it mildly.

Warneke, who is only twenty-seven, has been one of the mighty few Cubs who has given the outfit everything he had at all times. He has averaged twenty games a season for the last five years. He nearly threw his arm away trying to win the 1935 world series. He won sixteen games in the season just closed after being bothered by a sore shoulder at the outset.

Naturally, scout Rowland tried to give the Cardinals Bill Lee instead of Warneke, but Rickey, who sold Lee to the Cubs, realizes the value of an outstanding pitcher and insisted on Warneke. Thus it is that even the masterful Dizzy Dean will have a real rival for the pitching spotlight in St. Louis next year.

Chicago required Rip Collins, who should play plenty of first base and do considerable long distance hitting, but Parmelee could not win after July 4 for either the Giants or Cardinals.

The Warneke deal is unsound from a Cub standpoint if for no other reason than that Wrigley gave the Phillies $35,000 and Chuck Klein for Curt Davis and Ethan Allen during the past season. The object of that deal was to bolster the Chicago pitching staff, something Davis failed to do. As it turned out, Allen proved the more valuable of the two athletes obtained.

DWYER MAY HOLD CLUB

Must Deposit $150,000 With N.H.L. By April 15 to Retain Hockey Team

Toronto, Nov. 12. — Conny Smythe, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, said last night, on his return from a meeting of the league governors in New York, that Bill Dwyer may regain full control of New York Americans by paying $150,000 by next April 15.

Smythe, who attended the meeting called to settle Americans' financial affairs, said a $20,000 deposit already had been made. If Dwyer does not fulfil his agreement by April 15, Smythe said, the franchise and players would be forfeited to the league and sold.

Dwyer, who owned the Americans until the franchise was forfeited by the league two weeks ago because obligations were not met, became a director of the club and a governor of the league under settlement reached in New York Tuesday.

Rally In Second Half to Defeat Wednesday Team

Mid-weekers Led 3-1 at Interval

A savage second-half offensive, featured by Gordie Bell's hat-trick, carried the Saturday League all-stars to a 5 to 3 victory over the Wednesday League reps in the first game of the Anscomb Cup soccer series at the Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. The holiday attraction drew a large crowd and the fans witnessed a hard-fought encounter with the first division players coming from behind a 3 to 1 deficit at half-time.

Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., donor of the trophy, kicked off the ball to start play. He was accompanied to the centre of the field by Dr. Arthur Poyntz, president of the Victoria and District Football Association, and Ralph Alcock, president of the Wednesday League.

Substituting John Watt for Scotty Robinson at centre forward to open the second half, the Saturday League finally got their crack front line functioning. In the first half the Saturday forwards were helpless, their play lacking the zip necessary to get goals. The mid-week players gave the fans a thrill by scoring the first goal of the match and walking off the field at the interval with a two-goal lead. The second half was a different story. The Saturday players completely dominated play and except for occasional breakaways the Wednesday Leaguers were hemmed in their own half of the field. The Saturday backs, Harper and Sweeney, who were miskicking continually in the first half, pulled themselves together and gave goalie Louis DeCosta much better protection.

Other scorers for the Saturday team, in addition to Bell, were Scotty Stewart and John Watt. Art Chapman with two and Bob Preston contributed the goals for the Wednesday League squad.

FIRST HALF

Carrying the ball up the field from the kick-off the Saturday team forced a corner. Bell's kick was headed for the corner by Payne but Goalie Stewartson punched clear. The Wednesday eleven broke away with Harry Holness, right winger, testing DeCosta with a stinging drive. The Smith player returned with the ball and booted into the side of the net when pressed by Harper. On another corner kick at the other end Morgan headed Payne's centre over the bar.

At the fifteen mark the Wednesday team opened the scoring. Art Chapman took a pass from Kennedy, beat Sweeney, and booted the ball into the top corner of the net. Lorandini was pulled up for fouling Hall just outside the penalty area. The free kick was cleared by Sweeney.

After thirty minutes the Saturday eleven secured the tieing goal. Scotty Stewart headed the ball right at Stewardson, but the goalie fumbled and the ball went over the line in the air before he could recover. Referee McMillan awarded a goal despite the protests of several of the Wednesday League players.

Only two minutes elapsed before the Wednesday team again took the lead. Following a nice bit of footwork Preston lifted the ball into the goal mouth, where Chapman headed it into the corner. Minutes later Robinson had an open net, on a pass from Payne, but drove wide. With half-time drawing near, the Wednesday League team went ahead 3 to 1 on a soft goal. Preston shot for the corner from well out and DeCosta in attempting to save, slipped and the ball rolled into the net.

SECOND HALF

The Saturday team lost no time putting on the pressure with the start of the second half. Morgan got away a sizzling drive, only to have it strike Watt and rebound clear. Keeping on the attack, Payne lifted the ball over the bar from the left wing. Finest combination play of the game saw Bell make it 3 to 2. The ball passed from Watt to Stewart to Bell before the right winger picked the far corner of the net with a mile-a-minute shot.

SEATTLE IN HOCKEY WIN

Make Debut in Coast League By Nosing Out Portland Buckaroos 1 to 0

Seattle, Nov. 12.—Seattle and Vancouver shared first place in the Pacific Coast Hockey League today at the expense of Portland, which was in the cellar.

The Sea Hawks won from the Buckaroos here last night, 1 to 0, in the second game of the league schedule, the same margin by which the Canadians beat the Bucs in the opener Monday.

Oakland had yet to play its first game, which is set for Saturday at Oakland against Seattle.

Sammy McAdam, Seattle centre, backhanded Portland into defeat in the third period on a neat pass from Hal Tabor, wingman. The score came when the Hawks were short a man and Portland was putting on the pressure. McAdam grabbed the puck at his own blue line, passed to Tabor and both went down the ice. Tabor faked and flipped the rubber to Sammy inside the Portland blue line.

"Dutch" Gainor, Portland defenceman, incurring a leg injury, went out for the evening in the first period.

Bill Gilhooly, incurring three penalties, packed home a live duck the Hawks decreed he must care for until some teammate got more penalties in another game. Bill threatened to eat the duck.

The teams follow:

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

LETTER-FRIENDSHIP

Begun in 1899 by the late Mrs. W. O. Davis of Parsons, Kansas, when she wrote Mrs. Emmett McNeilly regarding the health of a mutual acquaintance, a strange "letter-friendship" grew up between the two women that lasted thirty-six years, though the correspondents never met.

Through girlhood, young womanhood, marriage and maternity the correspondents wrote faithfully, each week telling the other of the joys and tribulations that came into their lives. They arranged little "radio trips," each tuning in to the same programme, thus creating a "spiritual meeting" that was not destined to be consummated in real life—though until the day of Mrs. Davis's death, November 6, 1935, the two had always planned to actually meet.

Since the death of Mrs. Davis her daughter, Mrs. Don Kitterman of Chanute, Kansas, has carried on the odd correspondence.

KING OF TWO COUNTRIES

Under the Act of Union, passed November 30, 1918, Iceland and Denmark became free sovereign states, united under a single king. When in Iceland King Christian X and his Queen, Alexandrine, speak in the Icelandic tongue only, and their title is officially "King and Queen of Iceland and Denmark." When in Denmark the order of their titles is reversed and their majesties converse in Danish.

CABINET TERMS

Passed by Congress over President Johnson's veto in 1867, the Tenure of Office Act is still in effect today. It provides, in part, that cabinet officials should hold office "for and during the term of the President by whom they may have been appointed, and for one month thereafter, subject to removal by and with the consent of the Senate . . ."

Braddock-Louis Fight In Doubt

No Definite Action on Proposed Bout For Atlantic City Until Promoter Jimmy Johnston Arrives Back From Europe; Braddock Would Be Guaranteed $400,000

New York, Nov. 12.—Joe Gould, Jim Braddock's manager, likes the sound of that $400,000 guarantee for the heavyweight champion to fight Joe Louis, but along Broadway's "boxing boulevard" today they were saying the bout probably won't take place.

Promoter Herman (Muggsy) Taylor, Philadelphia, made the offer. The bout would be a no-decision twelve-rounder in Atlantic City's convention hall, which can seat 45,000.

Gould said he "tentatively" accepted the bid, "because that's too much dough to pass up." He took into consideration the fact that Braddock is under contract to Madison Square Garden for a title fight with Max Schmeling next June.

However, the word was that Gould appeared willing to take up the offer, in order to sidetrack temporarily the idea of a title fight between Braddock and light-heavyweight champion John Henry Lewis, which has been talked up by Jimmy Johnston, the Garden promoter.

LOUIS WILLING

Detroit, Nov. 12.—John Roxborough, co-manager of Joe Louis, said here last night it was his understanding plans had been made to sign articles in New York today for a match between the Brown Bomber and heavyweight champion Jimmy Braddock at Atlantic City, February 22.

"We're ready to sign and all that remains is for Braddock to accept the offer," Roxborough said. "In a sense it isn't a championship bout, but Joe can win the title if he knocks out Braddock, and that's what he hopes to do."

The Detroit fighter's manager said he believed technical angles of the fight would be cleared up by conferences during the night and that the articles would be signed.

GOOD FISHING AT THE INLET

Saanich Inlet still offers good sport fishing. Grilse of one pound to a pound and a half are in those waters in abundance. Anglers are also getting the odd spring salmon.

Frank Smith, John Hall and B. L. Jamison, New York, had fine luck last Sunday, for aside from reeling in a sixteen and one-half-pound and an eight-pound spring, they got two cohoe and fifteen grilse. Len Holyoak secured twenty-two and Dan Thomas fourteen. Mr. Redgrave got two springs.

Harry Gilbert caught and killed a 200-pound skate, which was wallowing around under his boathouse the other day. It was six feet six inches long and four and half feet wide.

Annual general meeting of the Uplands Golf Club will be held tonight in the Sprott-Shaw School quarters at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

Varsity Captures Cup Rugby Battle

Students Whip Vancouver Reps 11 to 0 in Opening Game of McKechnie Cup Series; Howie McPhee Turns in Fine Exhibition

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—Varsity's rugby squad today mapped further campaign strategy for the McKechnie Cup series after jumping into the lead by defeating Vancouver Reps 11 to 0 in yesterday's opener at Brockton Point.

Playing their first-line team at full strength, the blue and gold squad scored a goal and two tries to trounce Reps before about 750 fans who trekked to the stadium through drizzling rain.

Varsity opened their offensive early in the first half when Andrews cut over the Rep line in the left corner of the field. The try ended a spectacular extension play started when McPhee broke away, passed to Wilson, who in turn gave the scoring chance to Andrews. Carey could not convert.

The students pushed ahead, and another score was barely averted when McPhee was hurled into touch near the flag after a great run. Later Cleveland touched down to prevent Leggatt getting a try. Varsity led 3 to 0 at half time.

SECOND HALF

In the second half Carey started a three-quarter play which ended when Lumsden ran under the posts. Carey added the major points and the score stood at 8 to 0.

Reps fought gamely, and won scrum after scrum on the five-yard line without gaining advantage. Five minutes from time, however, McPhee intercepted a cross-field kick and ran the length of the field from his own twenty-five-yard line, to score wide on the left. Carey missed the convert.

The teams:

Referee—E. L. Yeo.

Canadiens To Meet Maroons

Montreal's Two Great Hockey Teams in First Clash This Evening

Red Dutton's Americans paraded back to New York today to meet Chicago Black Hawks without a worry about whether they will have to explain their conduct to a judge later.

They have a fair idea now who owns them. It's do or die for the dear old National League and Bill Dwyer. No more tossing nights with subpoenaes, injunctions and black-robed judges disturbing their dreams.

Dutton's team was able to win one and tie one in two starts with bailiffs lurking in the background. Americans have made the best showing in the Canadian division and strut before New Yorkers as leaders over Toronto Maple Leafs, Montreal Maroons and Montreal Canadiens.

If every Canadien supporter isn't in the Forum at Montreal tonight it will be because the building is not large enough. The happy Habitants' 2 to 0 win over Boston Saturday, the return of Howie Morenz to his old team, a real defence at last and Cecil Hart's presence on the bench once again have combined to arouse the old enthusiasm.

The Habitants make their second appearance of the season in a revival of the old rivalry with Tommy Gorman's Maroons, and it should be one of those battles that used to split Montreal hockey fandom into two argumentative sections.

WALLACE IN DECISION WIN

Vancouver Welterweight Takes Hard Bout With Midnight Bell

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—Gordon Wallace, Vancouver, Canadian welterweight champion today had hurdled a barrier which had loomed in the foreground of his quest to get into "big-time" boxing. He scored a unanimous decision over Midnight Bell, coloured battler from Dallas, Texas, in a ten-round main event bout here last night. The decision was booed by some of the crowd. Wallace weighed 145¼, Bell 148.

Realizing his eastern campaign was at stake, Wallace fought one of the hardest battles of his career. He previously had drawn and lost a bout with the negro.

Bell had weight, height and reach in his favor, but although he fought aggressively, he failed to land many telling blows. The Canadian danced and ducked away from the boring-in Texan, meanwhile counter-punching effectively.

Wallace had Bell missing at the start of the fight and staggered his opponent with hard rights to the head, but the negro came back strongly and until the seventh, when he noticeably began to lose most of the zip to his punches, appeared to hold an edge over his evasive opponent. However, he came out strong for the last round, ducking and blocking and drove the tiring Wallace around the ring with a two-fisted attack.

Helen Jacobs En Route to England

New York, Nov. 12.—Helen Hull Jacobs, British women's tennis champion and four times American titleholder, was en route for England today aboard the Aquitania. She planned to remain there until next July, when she will have defended her British title at Wimbledon.

Miss Jacobs plans to devote most of the winter to writing, with occasional excursions into fox hunting. She will again be the guest of the United States Ambassador and Mrs. Bingham during her winter visit.

"Of course, I hope to win at Wimbledon again next June and then I'll return to the United States and try to regain my national title," she said.

PLAY TO DRAW

Birmingham, Nov. 12.—Aston Villa climbed two notches to a tie for fifth position in the second division of the English Football League yesterday when the Villans battled to a 2 to 2 draw with Bradford City at Villa Park.

Fight Card At Naval Barracks

With navy fighters appearing in ten bouts, a boxing card will be presented at the naval barracks tonight, starting at 8 o'clock. The general public is invited to attend.

LOCAL CADDIES IN SERIES WIN

Beaten at Vancouver By Nine Points But Capture Competition

Dropping the second half of their home-and-home series by nine points to the mainland caddies, but taking the whole series by four points, having won the first half of the tournament here earlier in the year, the Victoria caddies returned yesterday from Vancouver on the short end of a 21½ to 12½ score. The local boys took the first half of the match 18½ to 5½ on the Oak Bay course.

Playing at the Shaughnessy Club, the local bag-toters were beaten by the best shotmakers in Vancouver. Following the match at Shaughnessy, the two teams journeyed to the new course on the North Shore for an exhibition series.

Scottish Score Surprise Victory In Annual Army Game

Defeat Gunners On Forward Play In Rugby Battle

Buckler Scores Pair of Tries

Preceded by all the pomp and ceremony which makes the affair one of the most colorful events of Victoria's rugby season, a grimly-determined Canadian Scottish intermediate fifteen flashed championship form yesterday to whip their Fifth Brigade league opponents 9 to 0 in the annual Armistice Day army rugby fixture at Macdonald Park, and capture the prized Fordham Johnson Cup for the first time in four years.

Present at the game were Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber and Premier T. D. Pattullo who were introduced to the respective players. Premier Pattullo made the kick-off and His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor presented the trophy to the captain of the winning team at the close of the game.

FORWARD GAME

For seven minutes after the start the Highlanders forced their way into Gunners' territory on their own kick-off. The heeling advantage in the scrum was with the Scottish and they made the most of it on their push to the Fifth goal line. A slippery ball made the going tough for the backfield men on both sides, and the game was in the hands of the forwards on nearly every play.

HIGHLANDERS SCORE

When the Highlanders were getting dangerously close to the gunners' goal line, Coomber, Fifth scrum half, kicked clear and play switched to the Scottish territory for a short time. Another yard-gaining offensive on the part of the Scottish brought the ball finally to the right-wing corner flag where they went over from a line-out, Buckler crossing for the first score. The kick failed.

The Fifth Brigade began to creep up yard-by-yard on the subsequent kick-off and their first scoring opportunity came near the Scottish thirty-yard line where a free kick was given the Gunners. Cozier, Fifth Brigade fullback, missed the kick.

Minutes before the half-time whistle, the Highlanders made their first chance for a backfield run and the ball came down the line without a hitch as the Scottish forced their way far into Gunners' territory to give them a twenty-five-yard territorial advantage as the half ended.

SECOND HALF

The Gunners fumbled badly as the half opened and the Scottish buckled down on an early offensive. A penalty kick for the Highlanders brought them in range of scoring. The kick lacked enough power to clear the posts but Lucas fumbled on the pick-up and Edmonds fell on the ball to add three points to the Highlanders' score. The kick failed.

The Fifth Brigade threes, usually good for a sparkling performance, were off their game, and the Scottish crowded them close on every scrum and lineout, spiking any attempt at backfield runs.

Buckler, Scottish captain, went over from a line-out on the right wing corner for the final score late in the second half. The Gunners rallied toward the end and fought hard as a few individual plays took the ball into Scottish territory. Bill Winsby made a couple of brilliant wing runs on the Gunners' flank toward the end but without any serious change in the play.

P. Swetman refereed.

The teams follow:

Fifth Brigade — Cosier, Smith, Bridge, Kirkbride, Winsby, Noel, Coomber, Russell, Bray, Guelpha, Lucas, Dalzell, Doheny, Pellett and Mylrea.

SATURDAY LEAGUE ELEVEN WINS ANSCOMB CUP SOCCER MATCH

teams on even terms. At this stage the Wednesday team put on Wilkinson for Preston. Watt broke through to score, but was ruled offside. Stewartson dived to block a ground shot from Stewart, holding the ball on the line and throwing clear.

Bell got his third goal to put the Saturday League team in the lead for the first time. Rushing in from the right wing Bell drove a shot at Stewartson and when the goalie blocked, the winger booted the rebound into the back of the net. Minutes later Morgan smashed a shot at Stewartson which was too hot to hold, but O'Connell kicked the rebound to the sideline.

The Wednesday team tried hard to get back onto even terms. Chapman had a fine opening, but missed the goal completely when he tried to pick the corner with the side of his foot. Shortly after DeCosta made a lovely save of Chapman's shot from feet out and then grabbed the rebound away from Cockerill and cleared.

One minute before time Stewart and Watt combined nicely, with the latter smashing the ball past Stewartson for the Saturday Leaguer's fifth goal.

D. McMillan refereed.

Saturday League—DeCosta, Sweeney, Harper, Robbins, Barnes, Lorandini, Payne, Morgan, Robinson, Watt, Stewart and Bell.

Wednesday League — Stewartson, O'Connell, Cann, McGee, Kennedy, Thompson, Holness, Preston, Wilkinson, Cockerill, Chapman and Hall.

Bay Meadows To Open Saturday

San Francisco, Nov. 12.—Horsemen prepared today for the opening of Bay Meadows Saturday as Tanforan's "getaway day" drew 15,000 fans for the final programme yesterday.

The Tanforan meeting was the most successful in history, $3,529,164 being wagered at the parimutuels during the twenty-five days of racing. The daily "handle" averaged $148,166, compared with $104,901 in the fall of 1935.

CHIWACKI TO MEET FRALEY

Leading Heavyweight Wrestlers to Appear Here on Saturday

Pat Fraley, husky Nebraska matman, who has been rapidly climbing to the top of the heavyweight heap, will be thrown into the ring to battle one of the toughest mat artists in the game today, in the person of Chief Chiwacki, dusky Indiana gypsy, in one-half of the double main attractions Saturday night at the Tillicum gym.

Fraley, who has only been seen by local fans in the light of a clever and clean wrestler, is said to possess a bag of tricks, which do not conform with his clean wrestling, that he can call on when occasions arise. It is expected when he meets the chief he will have to use them. Chiwacki is plenty rough and uses any kind of a hold to win. They are slated for six ten-minute rounds.

Richardson has hopes of matching Don McIntyre, husky Scot, and Rebel Russell, New York, in the other portion of the double main event. The remainder of the card will include a special event and a local preliminary.

GODOY EARNS FIGHT DRAW

Chilean Heavyweight Makes Fine Comeback in Bout With Ettore

New York, Nov. 12.—Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight champion, came from the rear last night to hold Al Ettore, Philadelphia puncher, to a ten-round draw before a gallery of 3,500 in the New York Hippodrome.

Weights were 196¼ pounds for Godoy and 195 for Ettore.

The South American, making his second eastern appearance in the United States, put on a stirring rally to hold Ettore on even terms in the eighth heat, and then go on to capture the ninth and tenth and pull up abreast of the sharp-punching Quaker City fighter.

It was Ettore's first start since his five-round knockout by Joe Louis in Philadelphia two months ago.

The decision was roundly applauded by the small gallery. The Associated Press score card gave each battler four rounds and called two even.

Ettore, apparently entirely recovered from the lacing Louis gave him, out-punched and out-boxed Goday in the early stages, but from the seventh on the Chilean began to flash the form he display against Leroy Haines last month and made a real fight out of it.

The last four rounds saw plenty of fast and furious action after a dull and colorless start in which the tactics of both, in electing to fight at close range, kept effective slugging to a minimum.

MERALOMAS IN FIRST PLACE

Defeat North Shore 17 to 7 to Take Lead in Canadian Rugby Loop

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—Led by their flashy quarterback, Jack Riley, Vancouver Meralomas, yesterday battered their way to a 17 to 7 triumph over the North Shore Lions in a Remembrance Day Canadian Rugby fixture here to move into first place in the British Columbia Big Four Rugby League.

The victory gave the clubbers a one-game lead over the Vancouver Athletic Club Wolves, who have suffered but one defeat this season, but Meralomas have played a game more.

North Shore took the lead in the first quarter with a rouge and a converted touchdown, but the clubbers' heavy artillery moved into action in the second quarter for a converted touchdown. Ross kicked to the deadline for Meralomas to leave the score tied, 7 to 7, at half-time.

Meralomas tore through the Lions' line in the third quarter for two more touchdowns, both unconverted, to end the game's scoring.

RANGERS IN VICTORY

Glasgow, Nov. 12.—Glasgow Rangers captured the Glasgow Charity Football Cup yesterday with a smashing 6 to 1 defeat over Partick Thistle at Ibrox Park. The finalists previously battled to a 2 to 2 draw.

Regina Riders Are Western Champions

Defeat Calgary Bronks 3 to 1 to Capture Canadian Football Honors; Chances of Playing Eastern Winners For National Title Look Slim

Calgary, Nov. 12—Regina Roughriders ruled as kings of western rugby today because of a 3 to 1 victory over Calgary Bronks, but their prospects of playing for the national title brought west for the first time last autumn appeared extremely doubtful.

The Rider powerhouse was a shade too strong for an amazingly determined Bronks machine here yesterday and that slight edge gave Regina its sixteenth western title since 1911. Roughriders actually won 8 to 1 because of a five-point handicap earned in the western conference.

Riders, who dethroned Winnipeg as national champions in an earlier playoff round, qualified for the Dominion final, but five United States players on the Regina team are ineligible under the Canadian Rugby Union's one-year residence rule. Roughrider officials insist they will not meet an eastern team without these men.

Prof. E. A. Hardy of Saskatoon has not commented on the Rider ultimatum, but has indicated he will issue a statement shortly. The ineligible Roughriders are Coach Dean Griffing, Fred Ray, Jim Lander, Fritz Falgren and Louis Chumich, bulwarks of the team.

BRILLIANT KICKING

Great punting of Charlie Harrison, big Bronk backfielder, held the Regina team in check yesterday as the teams battled back and forth across the centre line. The big fellow hoisted a seventy-yard punt to give his team a one-point lead in the first quarter, but his booming kicks could not offset entirely the Rider attack.

A blocked Calgary kick in the second quarter put Riders in position to attempt a field goal. Paul Kirk's try went wide and to the deadline for a point. An attempted onside kick in the last quarter was taken by Joe Turner, Calgary halfback, who was rouged.

Harrison averaged 52.3 yards on kicks to 42.4 for Lander.

Bad Highways Lose Tourists

F. Putnam Says $1,000,000 Could Be Spent to Get Motorists to Interior

In neglecting roads of the province the government is losing one of its greatest assets and is also suffering losses from tourist revenue, Frank Putnam, Liberal, Nelson-Creston, told the Legislature this morning.

Failure to keep the roads in proper condition sent tourists from the prairies, who totaled 75 per cent of the province's tourist trade, into the south to find better highways, Mr. Putnam said.

He drew attention to the need for geographical division of the province in highway construction, claiming the proper policy would be one of constructing highways north and south to conform with the interior valleys.

Money spent in improving interior highways would be repaid tenfold, he said.

In his own riding things were brightening up considerably and revenue during the last nine months had increased by $457,216. For this reason he did not think his request for road work was unreasonable. Development of mining properties in this area also justified greater improvements, he contended. He asked an expenditure of $1,000,000 in his riding.

Mr. Putnam congratulated the Minister of Lands for his efforts in locating mining and forestry trails in the interior. Youth camps, which had been established for the construction of forestry trails, were a distinct asset, he said, and had resulted in the saving of considerable timber from fire, which had previously been inaccessible.

Hospitals Criticize Compensation Board

Refusal to Pay For Treatment Comes in For Comment at Round-table Session of Association's Convention Here

Criticism was levelled at the Workmen's Compensation Board today in the course of the morning session of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association convention at the Empress Hotel.

The association, joining in a round table discussion under the leadership of Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, director of hospital activities of the American College of Surgeons, and Dr. Harvey Agnew, secretary of the department of hospital service of the Canadian Medical Association, came to the conclusion that closer co-operation was needed between the hospitals and government bodies making use of their facilities.

The Workmen's Compensation Board came into the picture when the Nelson delegation to the convention submitted a question as to why the board refused to pay for the cost of operations later than six days from the time of admission to hospital. It was pointed out that in many cases patients had to be taken to the operating table as long as a month after admission.

Dr. A. K. Haywood, superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital, said there had been many cases of injuries during night shifts in factories, when doctors were no longer in their offices, and the injured men had been rushed to the hospital for emergency treatment. In all cases the bills had been returned by the board with the notation that hospital treatment had not been necessary.

THREAT OF REFUSAL

"If they continue to take that attitude, we are going to refuse to take emergency cases in the hospital," he said.

One delegate accused the board of "dogmatism," because it determined what treatment was necessary and what the cost of that treatment should be without ever coming into actual contact with the case.

"It seems your troubles are never through with the Workman's Compensation Board," said Dr. MacEachern.

Dr. Haywood said he planned to interview the provincial government in this connection shortly, and when the outcome of the interview was known a deputation from the association would put the matter before the Provincial Secretary.

MEETINGS URGED

Following discussion of this point and the raising of other questions with regard to the responsibilities of municipalities and school boards under a number of different circumstances, Dr. MacEachern suggested occasional joint conferences be held with representatives of as many different governing bodies as possible attending.

The meeting also favored the closest co-operation between boards of trustees and hospital staffs, and it was recommended that visiting committees from the boards be shown over the hospitals at regular intervals.

Other questions debated in the course of the morning session were mostly of an administrative nature.

The duties of a nurse superintendent in a small hospital were considered. The meeting felt that in many cases too heavy a load was placed on this officer.

The possibility of a retirement insurance plan for nursing staffs and administrative personnel was discussed. Dr. Agnew pointed out that one or two municipally-operated hospitals had such plans, and that it was possible for institutions to take advantage of government superannuation plans. However, he said, the cost was very high.

The best method of keeping abreast of the times in hospital work was reception of good medical journals, the filing of information from them, and attendance at national and regional conventions.

The need for an effective set of by-laws and rules and regulations for hospitals of all sizes was stressed, and it was suggested a single series of by-laws would be adequate to cover all provincial hospitals.

In this connection it was pointed out that in some cases doctors considered they had a "God-given right" to use hospital facilities without abiding by hospital rules.

In discussing the collection of accounts various system were put forward. It was stressed that collections for hospital services were very different from those on merchandize.

A tribute to the work of the women's auxiliaries, both for their financial and material assistance and for their value in educating the community to hospital work, was paid by Dr. MacEachern.

Sold New Radio As Second-hand

On a charge of obtaining $25 by false pretences from Holland Bros., furniture dealers, K. G. Campbell was convicted in the City Police Court this morning and remanded until tomorrow for sentence.

Prosecution evidence was that the accused took a radio from McLennan, McFeeley and Prior on approval and then sold it to Holland Bros., second hand, for $25. The instrument was valued at $82.50.

In his own defence the accused said he had resold the radio to provide food and clothing for his wife and two children. He admitted forging a receipt from McLennan, McFeeley and Prior for the machine, which he had shown Wystan Holland to prove ownership of the machine.

N. W. Whittaker appeared for the defence.

Hope-Princeton Road Is Urged

Dr. J. Allen Harris Tells Legislature of Urgent Need For Communication

Completion of the Hope-Princeton Highway by the Department of National Defence as a military undertaking to meet the urgent need of interior residents for a proper road to the coast, was urged in the B.C. Legislature this morning by Dr. J. Allen Harris, Liberal, South Okanagan.

Outstanding among the reasons for the need of this road was the convenience of interior residents who were now forced to use a United States route to Vancouver rather than risk their cars on the bumpy roads of the province, he said. During a recent trip which Dr. Harris himself made to Vancouver he had taken the route over the Snoqualmie pass and counted numerous British Columbia cars in the lines proceeding to Vancouver.

Secondly, Dr. Harris said the lack of such a highway was the reason for large sales of American fruit in Vancouver. The road would bring the produce of the Okanagan Valley much closer to Vancouver. "Until we get that highway, the citizens of Vancouver will never know what really fresh fruit tastes like, because the peaches that I have ever had in Vancouver have been a cross between a vegetable marrow and a slightly decayed apple," he said.

The third angle was one which Dr. Harris considered important at this time and that was from the military viewpoint.

OPEN TO ATTACK

Considering the means of communication out of Vancouver, it was conceded that if trouble should arise the main railroads and the only highway would pass through the bottle-neck canyon of the Fraser River. In the event of such trouble a couple of bombs from an aerial attack would render Vancouver without communication, he said.

The matter of this highway should be taken up by the Prime Minister with the Department of Defence without delay on his next trip to Ottawa, he said.

Dr. Harris also dealt with agriculture problems, which he said, affected not only his own riding but every riding in the Dominion. He reiterated previous remarks about the dislocation of agriculture which he said was still prevalent.

HOTELS SEE TRAVEL YEAR

J. K. Hodges, Back From California, Finds Preparations Being Made

Returning from a month's holiday spent in southern California, J. K. Hodges, manager of the Empress Hotel, reports active preparations being made by the hotels all along the coast from Victoria to San Diego for next season's travel movement which is expected to eclipse the past season's phenomenal tourist business.

"A large percentage of this business will come to Victoria," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges spent most of the time while in the south at Carmel-by-the-Sea and at Del Monte, Calif.

Now that the presidential election is over, business in the United States is getting back to normal, Mr. Hodges said.

During his travels the Empress manager contacted many of the regular California visitors to whom he acted as host in Victoria. On every hand he heard Victoria spoken of in the most complimentary terms.

"Victoria is well known throughout California and has many friends down there," he said.

Mr. Hodges and his wife motored south over the Pacific Highway and returned to the city yesterday, having been away since the early part of October.

New Watershed Survey Mooted

Proposed Water Expert Look Over Sooke Before House Rules on Timber

An independent survey of the city's Sooke Lake watershed by Dr. E. A. Cleveland, Greater Vancouver water district commissioner, was proposed at the private bills committee of the B.C. Legislature this morning when a further hearing on the plan to selectively log the stand was held.

No objections were entered to a clause in the city's bill which empowers the council to lease, sell or otherwise deal with the Ogden Point grain elevator and permits the fixed assessment on the property to continue.

"This is an emergency measure—a supreme effort by the council to handle a situation so we won't have on our hands an elevator which stands the city $508,000 on its guarantee," said Mr. Pringle.

The committee will hear further expert testimony on the selective logging scheme tomorrow morning.

The proposal was advanced by Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, through Byron Johnson, Liberal, Victoria, and will be considered by the city council.

This morning G. Godwin, forest expert, told the committee his investigations had showed selection logging on the watershed would be perfectly feasible without danger to the area.

Speedy Arrest Follows Theft

Following speedy investigation by city and Sanich police, James Rennie pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of stealing a car owned by Hon. G. M. Sloan, Attorney-General, from outside his Rockland Avenue home on Tuesday night.

The damaged car was found by police this morning at Mount Douglas Park and a few hours later Chief Allan Rankin and Detective William Stark arrested Rennie and a juvenile and charged them both with the stealing.

Rennie is eighteen and the juvenile, who is seventeen, will appear in juvenile court before Magistrate Henry Hall.

Mr. Sloan's car was stolen late Tuesday evening from its parking place outside his home at 1393 Rockland Avenue.

F. W. Kennedy, 1350 Rockland Avenue, also reported to police his garage had been entered Tuesday night about the same hour and the dashboard cupboards of his car ransacked.

Lake Hill Community Centre will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock.

Theft of three tires from the Union Oil Service Station at the corner of Douglas and Government Streets, on Monday night, was reported to the city police by W. R. Elford, operator.

BETTE DAVIS AT PLAZA

Miss Davis appears in a role quite different from those which have won her the award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as the best film actress of 1935. In "The Golden Arrow" she gives a light comedy portrayal with a romantic twist, which involves also some dramatic moments.

Brent's role is also largely comedy, he being a shy young reporter, whose chief interest is a book he is writing.

Cotton Strike Vote In England

Workers in Plants in Lancashire Deciding If They Will Walk Out

Associated Press

Manchester, Eng., Nov. 12.—A cotton strike by Christmas threatened Lancashire textile mills today.

The first step for a possible walkout already has been taken. Textile union high officials have decided to poll the membership for authority to call the strike. The voting is expected to be completed within two or three weeks.

If the workers vote to strike, officials said, they would quit their jobs during Christmas week.

WAGE REQUEST

Textile mill employees have asked for a 14 per cent increase in wages and have been refused. Mill owners informed them they were unable to meet the demands because of conditions in the trade.

Mill owners declared the 1932 strike cost them an estimated $60,000,000 and they are taking measures to keep their workers from striking. The strike would affect more than 300,000 workers in all lines of the cotton and directly allied industries.

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

Hoot Gibson Now At The Columbia

Romance and glamor of the open range in the days when men were cowboys and six-shooters were the law of the land is brought to the screen by Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson and supporting galaxy of virile action stars in RKO Radio's super western picture "Powdersmoke Range," now being shown at the Columbia Theatre. A tale of the pioneer cattle town, Los Potros, and the spectacular overthrow of the sinister band which controls it by three roving cowboys, the picture is replete with blazing action, thrills, romance and comedy.

Bob Steel and Boots Mallory carry the romantic interest of the story and Sam Hardy plays the principal menace role.

Wallace Beery Here Tomorrow

"Old Hutch," which will come to the screen of the Dominion Theatre tomorrow, is the story of the man who is known in every town in America.

There is more than mere wealth of humor in this new character who comes in the person of Wallace Beery. He is the essence of rich, good humor, but beyond that he symbolizes the easy tolerance of America, the quiet acceptance of fate and in the last analysis, the fiery individual who, when driven to fight, does it with his whole soul, his strong body and two good fists.

Most people will recall the story of "Old Hutch" which was written by Garret Smith and appeared in The Saturday Evening Post. It is the account of a "no account" in the eyes of harsh critics, but a lovable man nevertheless. He is the laziest man in town and fishing is at once his business, his pleasure and his hobby.

ISLAND MOUNTAIN PRODUCTION

Vancouver, Nov. 1? (Canadian Press).—A total of 1,463 ounces of gold, valued at $51,205, was recovered from 3,966 tons of ore milled by Island Mountain Mines Ltd., during October.

These figures are slightly lower than those of September when 1,483 ounces of gold, valued at $51,905, was recovered from 3,654 tons of ore.

SAN CARLO TO APPEAR HERE

Opera Company Will Present Three Performances Shortly

"Grand opera for everybody" has for twenty-seven years been the slogan of the San Carlo Opera Company, coming to the Royal Victoria Theatre for three performances in the near future.

Year after year this organization has grown in favor, and for three good reasons. Fortune Gallo, who is the only man single-handed who has made opera financial success, has well diagnosed the need for opera at admission without reach of everybody. Secondly, he knows what the public wants in the way of operas offered them, and gives the public even more than it expects. And third, when compensated for success, Gallo has not striven for profits only, but invested season after season a large share of the returns by engaging an increasingly fine cast of artists, surrounding them by more elaborate settings.

Mr. Gallo's policy proved to be right, as last May he completed twenty-six years of successful operatic activities. This season is his twenty-seventh at the head of his world-famous organization.

A glance at the list of operas also shows that the San Carlo Opera Company today is more than ever the only organization that presents so extensive a repertoire while on tour. The list of twenty-one operas that this remarkable organization offers is: "La Boheme," "Madame Butterfly," "La Tosca," (by Puccini); "Aida," "Rigoletto," "Il Trovatore," "La Traviata," "La Forza del Destino," "Otello," (By Verdi); "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni); "Il Pagliacci" (Leoncavallo); "Lucia di Lammermoor" (Donizetti); "Faust," "Romeo and Juliet" (Gounod); "Carmen" (Bizet); "Thais" (Massenet); "Tales of Hoffman" (Offenbach); "Martha" (von Flotow) (in English) "Tannhauser" (Wagner); "Hansel and Gretel" (Humperdinck) (in English).

William Powell At The Oak Bay

The startling, dramatic story of the famous American Black Chamber, as told by the man who organized and headed it throughout the World War, is brought to the screen for the first time in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new picture, "Rendezvous," which opens today at the Oak Bay Theatre.

The story is really that of Major Herbert O. Yardley, who elevated the counter-espionage service of the United States from a hick detective agency to one of the most scientific spy-catching institutions in the world.

When Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer began looking for a star for "Rendezvous," is was improbable that any star could fill the role better than William Powell.

At the Columbia

Warner Baxter At The Atlas

The story of the production of "The Road to Glory," the highly-praised Twentieth Century-Fox picture now at the Atlas Theatre, is an adventure in itself.

Some months ago, when Darryl F. Zanuck conceived the idea of producing this spectacular hit, his associates were doubtful that a film could be produced on the scale he outlined.

Zanuck, characteristically, won them over by his enthusiasm and writers Joel Sayre and William Faulkner were assigned to do the screen play. Howard Hawks was appointed director and Nunnally Johnson associate producer.

When the script was completed, a conference was held to determine the best available Hollywood stars to fill the leading roles. The final opinion was unanimous that the parts were idcal for Fredric March, Warner Baxter and Lionel Barrymore and that June Lang, beautiful young actress, should play the role of Monique, the lovely French nurse.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"The Great Ziegfeld," now at the Capitol Theatre, has many and elaborate musical incidents which form the background for the story, give authenticity to the plot and recreate the atmosphere of the show world. The story itself, therefore, constitutes the focal interests and this deals with the man and his career, his loves, rivalries and successes.

Active Trading on Wall Street With Closing Tone Heavy

Associated Press

New York, Nov. 12.—Amusement, specialty and merchandising issues held the stock market fort today as most other groups gave ground.

Moving-picture issues, bolstered by swelling box office receipts and the outlook for more holiday trade gave a good account of themselves. Stiffness ruled in Loew's, Columbia and Paramount.

Other issues which were fairly resistant included Blaw-Knox, Lambert, Hiram-Walker, Sears-Roebuck and Macy.

Shares which came down the home stretch fractions to two or more points lower included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, International Harvester, Shell Union Oil, Kennecott and Howe Sound. U.S. Smelting was off about 4.

While the announcement of Bethlehem Steel Corporation's huge plant expansion programme was seen in financial circles as symptomatic of further acceleration in the progress of heavy industry, the shares, along with issues of other steel companies were droopy.

Prices Easier on Winnipeg Market

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—Price easiness in wheat developed on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today as discouraged "longs" disposed of their holdings. Values closed ¼ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, November at $1.07⅝, December $1.04⅞, May $1.04⅜ and July $1.04½.

Favorable weather reports from Argentina and Australia were conducive to lower prices. Liverpool was weak, ⅜ to ⅛ pence down at the close. Buenos Aires at noon was off ¾ cent, while irregularity prevailed at Minneapolis and Chicago.

Argentina's probable wheat exports this week were placed at 1,286,000 bushels, compared to 1,608,000 last week. Black Sea ports cleared 2,304,000 bushels, 248,000 more than last week's shipments.

Cash grains spreads were steady in dull trading.

SEEK FEDERAL AIR CONTROL

Australian Government Bill Would Provide Aviation and Market Regulation

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Canberra, Australia, Nov. 12.—The House of Representatives today gave first reading to a bill providing for a referendum to be held on control of aviation and aircraft regulations, and also control of marketing.

The government of Prime Minister J. A. Lyons seeks to obtain federal control of these things. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London invalidated Commonwealth marketing legislation and the Australian High Court, a couple of days ago, held the Commonwealth had no power to exercise general control of aviation.

An amendment of Labor members, to include in the referendum the question of control of trade, commerce and industry and powers over broadcasting and television, was defeated, 32 votes to 22.

Ship Battered By Big Storm

Canadian Press

Glasgow, Nov. 12.—The steamship Albuera, two days out of the Clyde bound for Nova Scotia, limped back to Greenock today, battered by a heavy storm. A terrific sea struck the Albuera when she was 120 miles off the coast of Donegal. Chief Officer George Nelson of Edinburgh was flung against a ladder and badly injured.

International Committee Meeting in London, Discusses Arms Bars

London, Nov. 12.—The International Non-Intervention Committee met here at 4 p.m. today. Prior to that time a subcommittee had met and worked out a scheme for establishment of a system to supervise foreign non-intervention in Spain.

A plan to "picket" customs houses in Spain to keep arms from flowing into the war-torn country was under consideration by the main committee.

TO SEND AGENTS

Under the plan, representatives of outside nations would be stationed at all customs houses and ports of Spain to see that no munitions reached the warring factions. The "picket" system, it was reliably stated, was the main proposal before the committee.

Soviet Russia again went on the defensive as the committee continued in session, answering Italian charges of violating the non-intervention agreement.

Foreigners Leave Northwest China

Associated Press

Nanking, Nov. 12.—The Chinese government has asked immediate evacuation of all foreigners from northwest China where an attack of 30,000 Manchukuan and Mongol troops was reported.

The attack was reported repulsed in Suiyan province, one district from which the government urged evacuation. The invaders used fighting planes, armored cars and tanks.

The government yesterday said notes had been sent all governments maintaining diplomatic relations with China asking them to urge their nationals to leave Suiyan, Ningsia and Tsinghai provinces and "also some parts of inner Mongolia under separate Mongolian jurisdiction."

Visas will not be issued to additional foreigners to enter the provinces named, the government said, because "Chinese authorities will not be responsible for protection of foreigners" in the areas.

KING EDWARD VISITS FLEET

His Majesty Inspects Warships at Anchor at Portland, England

Canadian Press

Portland, Eng., Nov. 12.—The King came to Portland today and visited a number of the warships of the Home Fleet. Tonight he will attend a concert given by officers and men of the navy on the aircraft carrier Courageous.

His Majesty's tour around the ships was made in the barge of the commander-in-chief of the Portsmouth station, Admiral Sir William Fisher. The barge is one of the modern, high-speed vessels recently introduced in the fleet.

As he visited each ship, the King went to the quarter-deck and chatted for a few moments with each commanding officer. In one informal talk the King remarked that the last time he was at Portland was as a midshipman. He asked many questions concerning the food and general comfort of the low-deck ratings.

WIND AND BIG SEAS

Half a gale rocked the battleships and other war craft during the night. The royal train reached here at 4 a.m. It felt the full force of the wind and waves, too. After being shunted into a siding, a huge wave came over the back, flooding the track to a depth of two feet.

The King arose at 8 a.m. and left the train at 9.15 a.m. He shook hands with the chairman of the local council and then inspected a guard of honor of the British Legion. Accompanied by his naval equerry, Commander Lambe, His Majesty entered a car flying the royal standard and drove slowly over the hill to the dockyard. School children, who were given a holiday, lined both sides of the road, cheering and waving flags.

SINKING FUND USE IS URGED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—The Vancouver city council will request the British Columbia Government to extend legislation to enable the city to meet current obligations out of sinking funds, covered in turn by delinquent taxes.

Prompted by a report from the city comptroller that the city's estimated borrowing power at January 1, 1937, will be $924,463, the plan was approved at a city council meeting Tuesday.

"We can't possibly meet our sinking funds next year," Mayor G. G. McGeer said. "It would mean an increase of seven or eight mills in the tax rate. Enabling power for a further two years must be secured.

Tarzan And the Leopard Men

Unsuspectingly, Old Timer entered the gates of the Leopard Clan's stockade, for the warriors wore their beastly costumes only when engaged in military or criminal forays. He even cherished the idea of enlisting aid here to rescue The Kid from the Leopard Men!

When he was taken before Bobolo, he was delighted, for in the days before the Leopard Clan he had dealth with this shrewd rascal at a jungle trading centre to the south. At least he was no stranger. "Peace, Chief Bobolo," he said; "a wanderer seeks shelter and food."

"You are likely to furnish a feast for us," Bobolo chuckled; "you are now in the village of the Leopard Clan warriors! We eat the flesh of men!" Old Timer shrank back in horror as the black continued: "But you are my friend. Maybe I can help you."

Bobolo commanded the white man to step closer as he whispered: "Give me all the gold and silver in your money belt, and I will see that you escape." Old Timer nodded eagerly, ignorant of the evil scheme that was taking form in the Leopard Man's devious mind!

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Would you advise the passing of a law for the disposal of old parents who are not needed any more? There is no loneliness like that of old age. The feeling of not being wanted or needed any more hurts. Nowadays children take the attitude that they owe nothing to their parents. Maybe that is true. Surely it is the duty of parents to care for their children in every possible way, and it is also a pleasure to most parents to make their children happy and see them prosper; but when children are grown and living their own lives, in their own way, and father is gone, what can mother do? She has given all to her children and there is nothing for her to do but wait for death. But while she is waiting for the final act what must she do? It is no more for her happiness to live with her children than it is theirs for her to live with them. She would love her own little place, with her books and a cat and an old friend, but she has given everything to her children and has nothing left. So what? AN OLD MOTHER.

Answer—The only law that I would advocate for the disposal of old parents who are not wanted by their children would be to build a lovely and comfortable apartment-hotel in every community where the man or the woman or old couples could go and have a nice little home in which they could potter around and do as they pleased, yet have the society of other old people with whom they could gossip and say: "Do you remember?"

But I think you are wrong in saying that the young people of today do not feel that they have any obligation toward their parents. Look about you and see in how many homes there is an old mother or an old father being tenderly cared for by a son or daughter.

Look at the young girls who work all day in offices and stores and almost all of whose earnings go to the support of their parents. I get thousands of letters every year from young people who are in love and who want to marry, but who are putting off their wedding day because they have an old mother or father to care for. It is the exception and not the rule when children turn their backs upon their parents.

But you are right in saying that children do not want their parents to live with them. The reason for this is perfectly obvious. There is, to begin with, always the in-law to consider and, strangely enough, a husband or a wife is nearly always more jealous of the other's mother than he or she would be of any sheik or siren. Mother's influence: "Mother says we should do this or that," "Mother advises this and that," is always as good for a family fight as a nickel is for a ginger cake.

And, in addition, no old person, and especially no old mother, can keep her fingers out of her children's pies if she lives with them. She is simply bound to interfere in everything that goes on, from raising the children to the strength of the breakfast coffee. That doesn't make for peace and harmony.

I often think if people saved more of their money for their old age instead of spending it on their children as they went along, it would be best both for themselves and the children in the long run. If father and mother put the price of the college educations and the sport cars and the trips to Europe and the fine clothes that they shower on John and Sadie into gilt-edged bonds, then later on when father died he would not leave mother penniless and she would not be a burden on John, who already has all he can do to support his own family, nor disrupt Sadie's household by going to live with her as an unwelcome guest. John and Sadie and mother would all be happier.

One way in which a family can meet this problem of what to do with mother is for all of them to chip in and give her an independent home of her own, no matter how humble. It would take very little money and it would save mother from the humiliation of sitting below the salt at another's table.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am in love with and am considering marrying a girl who has had a hectic past. She has had six affairs with that many different men. Three of the men she expected to marry, but they jilted her. She says she has no regrets for her experiences. I am no angel myself, but I know that marriage, to last, must rest on a basis of loyalty, fidelity, trust and respect. Do you think I will be safe in trusting such a girl for the future and thinking that the ghost of the past will not rise? STUMPED.

Answer—There is nothing to be stumped about in the situation. It is as plain as the nose on your face. Here is a girl who is a lady of light virtue, who loves pretty clothes, good times, gayety, and love-making, and who takes the easiest way to get them. She has no fixed principles, no code of morality, no strength of character that will enable her to resist temptation. She is a philanderer by nature and the chances are a hundred to one that she will always have an eye out for a new lover.

A woman may, through stress of passion or circumstances, step off of the straight and narrow road and win her way back with repentance and tears. You may trust her never to sin again, but not the woman who has taken many excursions down the primrose path and who regards them as mere episodes.

Your own point of view must determine your own solution of the problem. If you do not object to mud on your wife's skirts nor to second-hand goods, why not marry her? At the worst, her past is probably no darker brown than your own.

• • • • •

DEAR MISS DIX—Does a girl's home have a large influence on whether boys like her or not? We are a group of girls who come from respectable Christian homes, but they are poorly furnished and we feel ashamed to ask our boy friends to come in. Will this make any difference in whether boys continue going with us or not. CURIOUS GROUP.

Answer—A girl's home does have a lot to do with her popularity, but it is not on account of the way it is furnished. It is her parents' attitude and whether or not there is "Welcome" on the doormat. Not one boy in a hundred will ever notice whether there is linoleum or a Persian rug on the floor, or whether you have period furniture or something from the installment house. What he will notice is whether your parents are cordial to him and make him feel at home, and whether or not your home is a jolly and pleasant place to visit.

DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Red Marbles

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Jingle and Jangle, two of Uncle Wiggily's little rabbit girls, hopped into the hollow stump bungalow so fast one afternoon they fell up the steps.

"Oh! Oh!" cried Jingle.

"You ought to see what he's doing!" cried Jangle.

"Whatever is the matter?" squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as she ran out to the perch on hearing the bang-bang noises. They were made when Jingle and Jangle fell up the steps. Of course falling up isn't quite as sad as falling down steps.

But, of course, when you fall up steps, if there is a long flight of them, you may slip and start falling down. Only the steps of Uncle Wiggily's stoop weren't very long, so the little rabbit girls just sat down with bumps.

"What's the matter?" asked Nurse Jane again. "Who is doing what?"

"It's daddy," said Jingle, rubbing a bumpy lump on her left ear.

"He and Mr. Twistytail, the fat gentleman pig, are going to play marbles," said Jangle, rubbing a bumpy lump on her right ear.

RED MARBLES

"Red marbles," went on Jingle. "We came from school just now and we saw daddy and Mr. Twistytail ahead of us. Daddy had a bag and when he met Mr. Twistytail daddy said: 'Would like to play a game of marbles?' And Mr. Twistytail said he would but what with."

"And right away quick daddy said he had some red marbles and we thought we'd better come and tell mother," said Jangle.

"What's this?" asked Mrs. Longears, who also hopped out to see what had made the bumps.

"Excuse me for saying so," squeaked Nurse Jane, "but I think your husband is turning back into a little boy rabbit again."

"Yes, daddy," said Jingle.

"He's gone to play red marbles with Mr. Twistytail," said Jangle.

"Oh, such a rabbit man!" sighed Mrs. Longears. "Will he never grow up? The idea of a respectable married rabbit, such as he is supposed to be, going off to play marbles with a fat pig! Of course Mr. Twistytail is a gentleman," said Mrs. Longears, "but he is fat."

"Everybody knows that," said Nurse Jane. "But what's to be done?"

"I must stop him!" said Mrs. Longears firmly. "Of course there is no harm in playing marbles, red, blue, green, black or yellow. But Wiggy is too old for such little boy rabbit games. You did quite right, my dears," she said to Jingle and Jangle, "to hurry home to tell me. I am sorry you fell up steps. Give them some pennies for lollypops, Nurse Jane. I must hop after Wiggy and stop him from playing marbles."

Though it was a cold day, almost Thanksgiving, Mrs. Longears was quite warm as she hopped down the road to catch her husband. Meanwhile, just as Jingle and Jangle had said, Uncle Wiggily had met Mr. Twistytail and had offered to play red marbles with the fat pig gentleman.

"But are you sure you know what you are talking about, Wiggy?" asked the pig. "Red marbles—have you any?"

"Look in this bag," chuckled Mr. Longears. He opened one and the pig, after looking inside, whistled and said:

"They're red, all right."

"I'll give you some and keep some for myself and we'll have a marble game," said Mr. Longears. "I haven't played since I was a boy rabbit and I wouldn't be allowed to play now if my wife saw me."

Uncle Wiggily had just started his red marble game when, all of a sudden, the pig grunted: "Wiggy, here comes your wife!"

And what happened after that you shall hear in the next story about Uncle Wiggily and the birds' party. And, please, try to help the cash register count how many lollypops can be made from a pound of sugar.

SHIP DAMAGED IN BIG STORM

Greek Steamer in Gale Off England; Ss. Queen Mary Again Meets Rough Seas

Associated Press

London, Nov. 12.—The 3,404-ton Greek steamer Paneromeni, after earlier sending out an S.O.S. eighty miles off Brest, France, wirelessed at 3.34 a.m. today (7.34 p.m., P.S.T., Wednesday) she was proceeding after her rudder had been partially repaired.

The ship messaged "rudder hait repaired, helm okay, distress now clear, ship proceeding."

The ship, en route to Rotterdam from Stratoni, Greece, encountered heavy weather prevailing in the eastern Atlantic, the English Channel and the North Sea.

Many other ships ran for cover and a number of channel services were discontinued because of eighty-mile-an-hour winds and heavy rains which reduced visibility.

New Flying Boat Leaves England

Rochester, Eng., Nov. 12.—The Centaurus, one of Imperial Airways new flying boats to be used on empire routes, was put through a demonstration flight here yesterday before leaving for the Mediterranean for active service.

The Centaurus will operate on the Brindisi-Alexandria route.

The ship has a total loaded weight of approximately eighteen tons, can carry twenty-four passengers, and cruises at 170 miles per hour. Similar boats with larger gasoline tanks are expected to be used on the projected trans-Atlantic service.

The Centaurus is the third of the Imperial Airways fleet of twenty-eight to be constructed at a cost of over £1,000,000 ($5,000,000).

Force Threatened When Ship Docked

Members of Crew of Ss. President Jefferson Arm Themselves, Refuse to Permit Longshoremen Aboard and Ship Proceeds to Seattle With Big Local Cargo

Discharge of 1,600 measurement tons of general freight from the Orient, which arrived here yesterday morning in the holds of the Ss. President Jefferson, was prohibited when members of the ship's crew refused to put on steam for the winches and would not, without threat of violence, permit local longshoremen to go aboard.

The Jefferson, Capt. Alvin O. Lustie, U.S.N.R., tied up at the Rithet piers from Yokohama at 7 o'clock. Three hours later she proceeded to Seattle, her Victoria freight still in her holds. Passengers, their baggage and Canadian mails were permitted to come ashore.

Members of the crew stationed themselves near the longshoremen's gangway. They armed themselves with belaying pins, sand-bags and other objects, which they threatened to use if local longshoremen went aboard.

OFFICIALS HELP

Members of the Victoria Riggers and Transport Workers, who are affiliated with the International Longshoremen's Association, picketed entrance to the piers, and while members of the Victoria Longshoremen's Association gained entrance to the sheds and stood around in groups, linesmen were not allowed to pass, and dock and steamship officials were forced to help tie up the liner.

Several city policemen were stationed on the docks while the Jefferson was in port, but their assistance was not needed.

Discharge of the President Jefferson's unusually large cargo would have given about six hours' work yesterday to approximately 125 longshoremen.

In Seattle during the afternoon the President Jefferson joined her sister-ship, the President Grant, also tied up, and a large fleet of other idle vessels.

The first of the season's Japanese oranges were expected here in two weeks aboard the President Jackson. It is expected, however, they will be taken off before the ship sails from Yokohama and transferred to some ship coming direct to a Canadian port.

FAIR CARGO IS HANDLED

Associated Press

Seattle, Nov. 12.—Seattle's waterfront was a beehive of activity today as teamsters worked feverishly to remove "fair" cargo from piers before the forty-eight-hour truce ends at 8 a.m. tomorrow.

Teamsters' union officials said the piers were so jammed that all cargo unloaded before the maritime strike was called could not be moved before the end of the truce.

A similar forty-eight-hour truce was effective at Olympia at 8 a.m. today. Three ships were tied up, but the Swedish vessel Falsterbo was cleared for British Columbia ports on condition she would not call at an American port.

Longshoremen officials at Olympia said they voted to release the fair cargo "to avoid working a hardship on companies having materials and supplies on the piers."

Alaskans, forced to rely on airplane transportation to the United States, were isolated completely today when storms over the Gulf of Alaska area grounded all planes.

Five planes en route to Juneau were forced down at Cordova, where they waited today for clearing weather.

DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST SHIP

They Amount to $123,000 Following Loss of Ss. Silver Hazel

San Francisco, Nov. 12. — Three suits seeking damages amounting to more than $123,000 were filed in Federal Court yesterday against the Silver Line Limited, British concern which owned the Ss. Silver Hazel that broke in two and sank off the Philippine coast in November, 1935.

The Continental Insurance Company and twenty-one other marine insurance concerns already have a $130,000 damage action pending against the Silver Line.

One action, asking $10,000, was filed by Robert Neil Williams Jr, as administrator of the estate of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Krueger Williams, who was a passenger on the ill-fated vessel. She drowned after the craft ran into rocks near San Bernardino Straits.

A group of cargo owners, headed by A. C. Gladstone, asked $58,605 damages, and another group, headed by H. Roelli & Company, ask $55,344 in their suit. All charge negligence.

On Long Jaunt In Eskimo Boat

Man Reaches Kansas City in Eskimo Kayak From Milk River, Alberta

Kansas City, Nov. 12.—A. L. Troelstrup, making a water voyage in an Eskimo kayak from Milk River, Alberta, to New Orleans really became acquainted with the Misouri River here today.

The twenty-two-year-old voyager had no more than docked his treacherous canvas-covered craft at the Municipal Wharf than he fell into the water, but was rescued.

With his arrival here, Troelstrup had covered 2,150 miles of his trip, which he undertook after receiving his B.A. and D.S. degrees from the University of Arizona.

Troelstrup pushed off from Milk River July 1 and hopes to reach New Orleans by January 1. He said he was fifteen days behind schedule, due to an attack of typhoid fever which delayed him at Williston, N.D.

"No one has ever traveled from Milk River to New Orleans by kayak," he said, "so let that serve as one purpose. Then I like to see the country and talk to people."

Doctor Finds Cause of Piles

After years of study, Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found what causes and aggravates piles in the great majority of cases. It is an internal congestion, holding back return blood flow from the lower bowel with increasing pain and misery.

Dr. Leonhardt also found that external applications like salves, ointments and suppositories did not usually give more than slight relief, as they did not treat this cause of piles.

Piles being generally due to an internal congestion should have internal medication, so Dr. Leonhardt worked out a prescription to be used internally. He named it Hem-Roid.

Hem-Roid has been successful in hundreds of cases, many of long standing, and is so successful generally, any pile sufferer may give Hem-Roid a trial with the understanding you may have your money back, if the first package is not satisfactory.

MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Company Stores, or any other druggist can supply you and we feel sure you will find Hem-Roid is a very effective, easy and pleasant way to relieve your piles. You can generally see definite results the first day.
